

RideNoww Continues to Grow as a Leading Online Taxi Comparison Platform in London

RideNoww, a leading London taxi comparison platform, helps travellers compare fares for airport and city rides, and connects drivers with new business

LONDON, LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, September 2, 2026

/EINPresswire.com/ -- RideNoww

(<https://ridenoww.com/>) has established itself as a leading online taxi comparison and booking platform in London, helping travellers compare fares from multiple licensed providers in a single search — instead of checking several apps and websites separately to find the best price.

Rather than operating as a single taxi company, RideNoww works as a comparison marketplace: users enter their pickup location, drop-off point, date, time and passenger details once, and the platform returns fixed-price quotes from a range of verified operators. Travellers can then compare price, vehicle type and capacity — from standard saloons to executive cars, estates and minibuses for larger groups — before booking securely online. The platform is rated 4.8 out of 5 based on more than 2,300 reviews across Trustpilot, Google and Birdeye.

"Booking a taxi in London usually meant opening several apps just to find a fair price," a RideNoww spokesperson said. "RideNoww brings that all into one place: one search, multiple trusted providers, and a transparent price before you book — whether that's a quick cross-town ride or an early-morning airport transfer."

A Trusted Choice for London's Major Airports

Airport transfers remain one of the platform's most popular use cases, where reliable timing and upfront pricing matter most. RideNoww allows travellers to compare fixed-fare quotes for journeys to and from:

Depending on the operator, airport bookings may include fixed fares, flight monitoring, meet-and-greet service and licensed private hire drivers — giving passengers more certainty before they even leave home.

A Growing Sales Channel for Taxi and Private Hire Operators

Alongside its passenger-facing marketplace, RideNoww continues to expand its network of taxi and private hire operators. Through the platform's supplier sign-up program, licensed drivers and fleet operators can list their vehicles, reach customers actively comparing prices for journeys across London, and pick up additional bookings without extra marketing spend.

"Just as we make life easier for passengers, we're focused on making it easier for good, licensed operators to win more business," the spokesperson added. "Drivers who join RideNoww get ongoing exposure to travellers who are actively searching and ready to book — from everyday cross-London trips to steady airport transfer demand."

Operators interested in joining the platform can register through the Supplier Sign Up page on the RideNoww website.

Coverage and What's Next

RideNoww currently supports airport transfers, cross-London travel, business travel, hotel and residential pickups, railway station transfers, cruise terminal transfers and corporate bookings. The company says its network of participating operators — and its coverage of London boroughs, airports and surrounding destinations — will continue to expand in the coming months.

The RideNoww app is also available for download on iOS and Android.
