

Forma Redefines Poolside Luxury With High-End In-Pool Seating

AquaBlu Mosaics introduces Forma, a sculptural collection designed to bring resort-inspired comfort, contemporary style, and lasting performance.

TAMPA, FL, UNITED STATES, September 2, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- AquaBlu Mosaics is elevating the way homeowners, designers, hospitality professionals, and pool builders think about outdoor relaxation with the Forma Collection, a sophisticated line of furniture created specifically for shallow pool environments.

Rather than adapting traditional patio furniture for use around water, Forma was designed from the beginning for the pool. The collection combines sculptural silhouettes with practical details that make spending time on a sun shelf more comfortable, stylish, and effortless.

What we love most about the Poolside Seat is that it doesn't require a sun shelf to work its magic... This piece means every pool can have that same Forma comfort and style, ledge or no ledge.”

Sarah Barker, Merchandise Manager at AquaBlu Mosaics

The collection includes the In-Pool Chaise Lounge, In-Pool Chair, Poolside Seat, and In-Pool Side Table, creating a cohesive design language that can extend from the water onto the surrounding pool deck.

Designed Specifically for the Water

At the heart of Forma is a simple design philosophy: pool furniture should be purpose-built for the environment where it will be used.

Each piece is molded from a single UV-stabilized resin, eliminating fabric that can become damp or develop mildew, cushions that require seasonal storage, and rust-prone hardware integrated into the frame. The result is a streamlined aesthetic designed to withstand exposure to sunlight, water, and everyday outdoor use season after season.

The collection's low-profile, sculptural design also complements modern pool architecture. Smooth, rounded edges create a refined appearance, while the stable base helps each piece remain secure during everyday swimming and entertaining. An open, breathable construction allows water to move through the furniture rather than collect on the seating surface.

A Complete Approach to Poolside Comfort

The In-Pool Chaise Lounge serves as the centerpiece of a sun shelf, providing full back support for stretching out in the water. For a more flexible arrangement, the In-Pool Chair offers a lower-profile seating option that can accommodate additional guests or complement the chaise lounge.

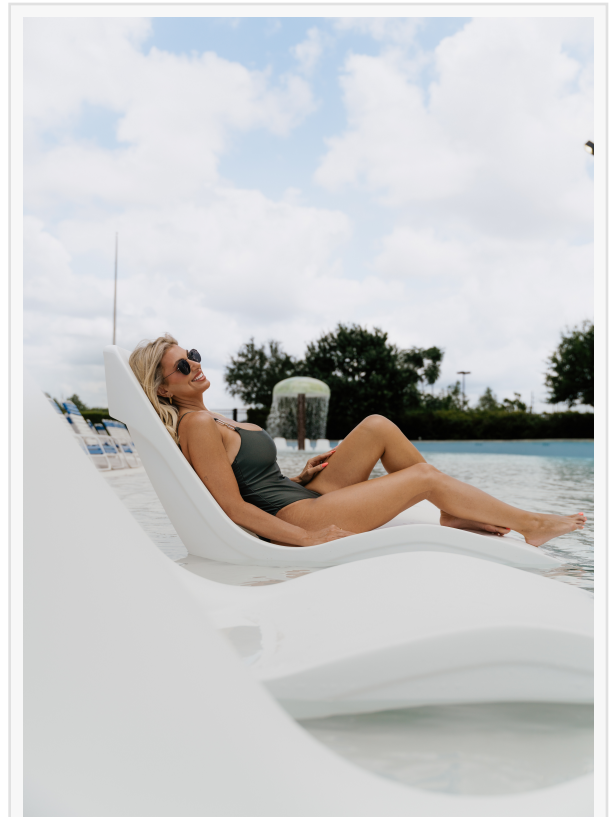

The Poolside Seat extends the Forma aesthetic beyond the water, helping create a unified transition between the pool and deck. "What we love most about the Poolside Seat is that it doesn't require a sun shelf to work its magic," says Sarah Barker, Merchandise Manager at AquaBluMosaics. "Every pool has a deck. This piece means every pool can have that same Forma comfort and style, ledge or no ledge." Meanwhile, the In-Pool Side Table provides a convenient surface for essentials such as drinks, sunscreen, or a favorite book.

Together, these pieces transform an ordinary shallow-water area into a more intentional destination for relaxing and entertaining.

Designed For Residential and Commercial Spaces

Forma is equally suited to a private backyard retreat or a sophisticated hospitality environment. Its durable construction and cohesive appearance make it an appealing choice for residential pools, multi-unit properties, hotels, resorts, and other commercial settings.

Every piece features marine-grade hardware and benefits from AquaBlu Mosaics' commitment to American manufacturing. This approach supports consistent quality while giving designers and project professionals a streamlined option for furnishing pools at virtually any scale.

Creating A More Thoughtful Sun Shelf

Selecting the right pieces begins with understanding the dimensions of the pool's shallow area. Homeowners should measure the shelf's length, width, and water depth before choosing furniture. Forma's in-pool pieces are generally intended for sun shelves approximately 4 to 9 inches deep, although individual product specifications should always be confirmed before ordering.

Layout matters as well. Rather than filling every available inch, leaving open water between pieces creates a more comfortable sense of movement. A shelf can feel considerably more inviting when seating is arranged with enough clearance for guests to move naturally through the space.

With Forma, AquaBlu Mosaics is bringing a new level of intention to pool design, proving that comfort, durability, and sophisticated aesthetics can coexist beautifully in the water.
