

Fora d.o.o. Named Among Slovenia's Future 100 Companies

Perception CloudWorks' IPTV and streaming development arm is recognised for its international growth potential.

LJUBLJANA, SLOVENIA, September 4, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Fora d.o.o., Perception CloudWorks' software development arm, has been named in the Future 100 Slovenia, recognising it among the Slovenian companies with the strongest potential for international growth.

The selection was presented at the Bled Strategic Forum on 31 August 2026. Future 100 Slovenia is a data-led initiative of the Future 500 Initiative, developed by IEDC-Bled School of Management in collaboration with the Atlantic Council.

Fora was selected from more than 203,000 Slovenian companies, assessed across 19 financial, growth and innovation indicators.

Founded in 2005 and headquartered in Ljubljana, Fora d.o.o. specialises in enterprise IPTV, middleware, video streaming and on-demand platforms. As part of Perception Group, it provides the development, maintenance, support and research capability behind Perception CloudWorks' streaming and media-delivery technology.

Its technology heritage includes the Perception platform, which brings together live TV, catch-up TV, video on demand and cloud PVR within a scalable multiscreen environment for operators and service providers.

John Mills, CEO of Perception CloudWorks, said: "We are proud to see Fora recognised in the Future 100 Slovenia. The team in Ljubljana has been central to the development of our technology for more than two decades, and this acknowledgement reflects both its capability and the international potential of the business."

Fora d.o.o. has been named among Slovenia's Future 100 Companies, recognising its international growth potential.

“As Perception CloudWorks continues to invest in private infrastructure, streaming media technology and AI, Fora remains fundamental to the evolution of our platforms and our future growth.”

The inclusion provides independent, data-led recognition of Fora’s growth potential as Perception CloudWorks advances its international expansion and future investment plans.
