

Houston Garage Door Repair Shop Staffs 24/7 Crews for Hurricane Season

Family-owned Easy Garage Door Repair is staffing 24/7 garage door repair in Houston and asking homeowners to check doors before the next storm.

HOUSTON, TX, UNITED STATES, September 2, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Easy Garage Door Repair is staffing 24/7 garage door repair Houston homeowners can reach through the heart of Atlantic hurricane season. The family-owned shop is asking residents to treat the garage door as part of the house's wind envelope, not an afterthought.

A garage door that fails in high wind can let pressure into the house and take the roof and walls with it. Judah Buzagloul, president and service manager, said most of those failures start as ignored hardware: a weak torsion spring, a bent track, a missing weather seal, or an opener that will not reverse.

"If the door will not open, close, or stay balanced on a calm day, it will not hold in a tropical storm," Buzagloul said. "We want Houstonians calling for garage door repair before the rain band, not after the door is in the driveway."

What they want households to do now, before the next storm watch:

Test the door. Disconnect the opener and lift by hand. It should move evenly and stay put halfway. If it slams or will not budge, the springs or cables need repair, not a stronger opener.

Look at the top seal and the panels. Daylight around the perimeter and dented sections are wind and water paths.

Confirm the emergency release works from inside. After a power outage, a stuck door is a safety problem, not just an inconvenience.

Commercial property managers should add overhead doors and gates to the same checklist. A rolling steel or high-speed door that will not close leaves inventory and the building envelope exposed.

For doors that will not open or close after dark or after a storm, the company staffs emergency garage door repair Houston technicians with springs, cables, rollers, and sensors on the truck. Easy Garage Door Repair also handles openers, off-track doors, and full replacement when a door is too damaged to hold. Qualified customers can use 0% APR financing for up to 24 months on replacements, per the company's published financing page. Terms are confirmed on the estimate.
