LEESBURG, VA, UNITED STATES, September 3, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Cause Chiropractic Celebrates Grand Opening in Leesburg, Bringing Precision Upper Cervical Care to Northern Virginia

New clinic offers gentle, X-ray-guided upper cervical adjustments for migraines, vertigo, POTS, and other conditions linked to nervous system imbalance

The Cause Chiropractic

The Cause Chiropractic today announced the grand opening of its new office at 1507 Dodona Terrace SE #100 in Leesburg, Virginia. The practice, founded by Dr. Tyler VanAkin and Dr. Ellen VanAkin, offers precise, neurologically based upper cervical chiropractic care designed to address the root cause of symptoms rather than mask them. The clinic will serve patients throughout Leesburg, Ashburn, Lansdowne, Purcellville, Sterling, and the surrounding Northern Virginia community.

We're excited to serve Leesburg and the surrounding Northern Virginia community with a different approach to chiropractic care—one focused on precision, education, and the individual patient.”

The Cause Chiropractic

“Too many people are told to live with their symptoms because no one has looked for the underlying cause,” said Dr. Tyler VanAkin, founder of The Cause Chiropractic. “Our goal with this office is to give Loudoun County a place where patients get an honest, data-driven answer about what’s actually happening in their nervous system — and a gentle, precise way to correct it.”

Focused, Evidence-Based Upper Cervical Care

Upper cervical chiropractic centers on the alignment of the atlas (C1) and axis (C2) — the top two vertebrae in the neck, which protect the brainstem and play a central role in nervous system function, balance, and circulation. Misalignment in this area can contribute to a wide range of conditions, and The Cause Chiropractic uses advanced imaging and measurement to identify and correct it with precision.

Rather than the twisting or popping associated with traditional adjustments, the practice’s approach is gentle and highly targeted. Every care plan begins with a consultation, digital X-ray imaging of the upper cervical spine, and Functional Neurological Thermographic Analysis, a non-invasive scan that measures temperature patterns along the spine to help identify areas of nerve interference.

The practice focuses on care for patients dealing with:

Migraines and chronic headaches

Vertigo and dizziness

Neck pain

POTS (Postural Orthostatic Tachycardia Syndrome)

Tinnitus

Brain fog, fatigue, and anxiety linked to nervous system imbalance

Back pain

Anxiety

Led by Two Advanced HIO-Certified Chiropractors

Dr. Tyler VanAkin, a graduate of Palmer College of Chiropractic, is Virginia’s first upper cervical chiropractor licensed to perform the Advanced HIO technique. He was associated with the Chiropractic Hub for MAHA Make America Healthy Again (MAHA) and co-chairs the educational committee of the Advanced HIO board.

Dr. Ellen VanAkin, also a Palmer College of Chiropractic graduate and Dean’s List honoree, is certified in both Blair and Advanced HIO Knee Chest upper cervical techniques. The tenth member of her family to enter the chiropractic profession, she currently serves on the Advanced HIO Knee Chest Board and is dedicated to advancing excellence in upper cervical care.
