Kane Fine Art specializes in fine art photography that brings the outdoors inside, with collections designed for living rooms, offices, vacation properties, and hospitality spaces. The gallery's portfolio includes Colorado wall art and Colorado artwork featuring dramatic peaks, aspens, and seasonal landscapes; desert art, desert wall art, and desert landscape art capturing the warmth and texture of the Southwest; and colorful art for clients seeking bold focal points.

In addition to vivid landscape pieces, Kane Fine Art offers modern black and white art and black and white wall art, including ski wall art and ski artwork that depict professional skiers on striking mountain faces. Seasonal collections of fall wall art, winter wall art, winter canvas wall art, tree art, forest art, and tree wall art give homeowners and designers flexible options to match the mood and character of specific rooms. The dedicated Mountain Wall Art collection allows buyers to quickly browse mountain canvas wall art and related landscapes art by style and size.

Kane Fine Art provides complimentary design consultations to help clients choose the right piece. Buyers can send photos and dimensions of their space so the gallery can superimpose mountain art, ski wall art, forest art, or colorful art into the room, making it easier to visualize scale and placement before ordering.

“Kane Fine Art is focused on creating wall art that feels personal and connected to the wild places people love,” said Kane Scheidegger, owner and fine art photographer at Kane Fine Art. Whether a client is looking for unique mountain art above a fireplace, exhilarating black and white ski artwork for a home bar, or stunning winter canvas wall art for a mountain retreat, our goal is to guide them toward photography that fits their space, their taste, and their daily life. We work closely with our clients to customize artwork to fit your spaces to enhance your living experience.
