Mean Green Junk Removal Expands Volunteer Cleanup and School Support Efforts

Volunteer cleanup at Winter Oaks Stables and a school-supply haul for Denton ISD mark the latest in nine ongoing community initiatives.

Packing 450 Sustainability Kits for Denton Recycles

DENTON, TX, UNITED STATES, September 4, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mean Green Junk Removal, a junk removal, cleanout, and light demolition company serving Denton County and the North DFW Metroplex, has completed a new round of volunteer projects supporting local schools, waterways, and recycling programs. The efforts extend a community involvement record that now spans nine local projects and partnerships, ranging from trail cleanups to school-district logistics support.

Among the most recent projects, the company's crew spent an afternoon clearing a wooded trail along Lewisville Lake, running past Winter Oaks Stables in Shady Shores. The area, a boarding barn a few minutes from the company's shop, had collected years of bottles, cans, and dumped bags along the path. Crew members worked the trail on foot using grabbers and brought in an all-terrain vehicle to reach stretches inaccessible by truck, hauling the full load off on behalf of the stables and the Town of Shady Shores.

The company also stepped in to solve a logistics gap for Denton Independent School District. School supplies for the district's annual back-to-school distribution event were stacked on pallets at Ray Braswell High School in Aubrey, while the event itself was held across the district at Ryan High School in Denton. Crew members pallet-jacked the boxes through the Braswell lobby, loaded them, and hauled the full shipment to Ryan so the district could set up and begin distribution on schedule.

Both projects build on an ongoing recycling commitment that has diverted more than 7,800 tires from area landfills to date, including collection runs conducted alongside the Town of Shady Shores. The company sorts loads on site, routing usable items to donation through a network of local partners and recycling scrap metal, cardboard, electronics, and tires rather than sending them to a landfill by default.

Moving Denton ISD's School Supplies From Braswell to Ryan

"Growing up in this area, we used to go up and down Shady Shores Road all the time, and it's the same with the schools around here," said Trevan Fenner, Owner of Mean Green Junk Removal. "When a barn needs a trail cleared or a district needs a truck, we already have the equipment and the crew, so saying yes just costs us a day."
