NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, September 7, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Jellyfish Entertainment's VERIVERY members DONGHEON, GYEHYEON, YEONHO, YONGSEUNG, and KANGMIN have released the group's eighth mini album, CONFETTI. This new album comes almost a year after their single album Lost and Found (December 2025), and now eight years into their career, VERIVERY shares more of their playful and relaxed sides. CONFETTI is inspired by the image of confetti bursting over the brightest moments of a festival. VERIVERY finds "confetti" in ordinary moments of everyday life, believing that these small pieces of joy can each become their own highlights in life. With CONFETTI, VERIVERY aims to share those small pieces of happiness with listeners through their wit.

"I hope this album can be a small source of happiness in your daily life." – GYEHEON

VERIVERY's eighth mini album consists of five new tracks, opening with "Way to Zero," a track that is an electronic dance-pop song that frames "zero" as the purest starting point, carrying a message to trust your instincts and follow them rather than searching for a perfect answer. It is followed by the title track, "Don't Panic!," a bright funk-pop song that carries an uplifting message for listeners to enjoy the present amid the repetition of everyday life. The third track, "DRAMA," is a disco-pop fan song, written by the five participating members of this comeback, who wrote the lyrics in order to put their own wish to continue writing their story with VERRER (VERIVERY's fandom name). "Touch," featuring VERIVERY's Y2K unit consisting of YONGSEUNG and KANGMIN, is a speed garage track that traces the moment the pull toward two lovers becomes clear. Finally, CONFETTI closes with "Eye Contact (□ □□□□)," another unit track by the DYG unit with members DONGHEON, YEONHO, and GYEHEON, each representing Dream, Youth, and Generation. It delivers a full-band sound that leans on the three members' chemistry and playful confidence. The two unit tracks are VERIVERY's first-ever unit activities and showcase new charms through the fresh member combination.

“This is an album we were more involved in creating than ever before, so we hope you’ll listen closely to the message VERIVERY wanted to share!” – YONGSEUNG

Besides the release of CONFETTI, VERIVERY will be kicking off their latest tour, GIVE ME FIVE, KEEP THAT VIBE. The tour begins in Seoul on October 3rd and continues through ten additional stops across Asia and Europe.
