From Service to Business Ownership: Juiced Fuel Wants to Gift a Franchise to a Veteran

Red, White & Fuel is officially accepting applications and nominations for one deserving U.S. veteran to receive a Juiced Fuel franchise this Veterans Day.

CHARLESTON, SC, UNITED STATES, September 10, 2026 / EINPresswire.com/ -- Juiced Fuel and the Fuel Forward Foundation are officially calling on veterans, military families, communities and organizations across the country to help find the recipient of Red, White & Fuel: The Juiced Fuel Franchise Award.

This isn't your typical giveaway. This is an award.

Juiced Fuel is a veteran-led mobile fueling franchise headquartered in Charleston, South Carolina. The company provides mobile fueling services to fleets, construction sites, marinas, generators and other commercial operations, combining logistics, technology and operational support to bring fuel directly where it is needed.

President and Co-Founder of Juiced Fuel Korey McDavid is a U.S. Army veteran and former Apache helicopter pilot, and the company's culture has been shaped by the values of service, accountability, leadership and community.

This Veterans Day, the Fuel Forward Foundation plans to award one qualified U.S. veteran the opportunity to own and operate a Juiced Fuel franchise, providing them with a pathway into business ownership and a new mission to take on. We're asking the public to help Juiced find them.

Applications and nominations for Red, White & Fuel are open now through October 1, 2026, with the recipient set to be announced on Veterans Day.

The award is designed to give the recipient more than a business name and a set of keys. The complete Juiced Fuel franchise package includes onboarding, operational training, business systems, brand support and ongoing mentorship to help the recipient establish a strong foundation from day one.
