

From Amortization to SOFR: New Abe® Student Loan & Financing Glossary Sharpens Borrowers' Financial Aid Vocabulary

"Dictionary" Empowers Students & Families with More Knowledge and Insight

BOSTON, MA, UNITED STATES,
September 10, 2026 /

EINPresswire.com/ -- Borrowing for college comes with its own vocabulary. Mastering each term can help students and families better evaluate various financing options.

Abe student loans

For that reason, the Abe® student loan website now features a comprehensive Student Loan & College Financing Glossary.*

The "dictionary" exposes borrowers to this specialized language and the differences between terms like interest rate and annual percentage rate (APR), or between deferment and forbearance.

Users can find more than 100 words and phrases organized into seven sections on Applying for Financial Aid, Federal Student Loans, Private Student Loans, How Interest Works, Repayment Options & Terms, Refinancing & Consolidation, and Other Helpful Terms. The complimentary glossary is accessible to all families, whether or not they are applying for an Abe student loan.

"When students or families are seeking financial aid, information is empowerment. A more detailed understanding of their choices helps borrowers to develop a financing plan that aligns with their future goals," said Steve Winnie, President, Monogram LLC, which created and administers Abe.

The glossary defines different terms and, in many cases, explores their impact. For example, it not only explains what in-school payment/immediate repayment is (making principal and interest payments while still in school); it also points out that this strategy often lowers borrowers' costs.

The “borrower dictionary” is one of many resources available through the Abe website and is accessible at abestudentloans.com/resources/student-loan-college-financing-glossary.

Abe stands out with a variety of features to support undergraduate, graduate, or professional student borrowers throughout the life of a loan. More information is available at abestudentloans.com.

About Abe

Abe® student loans bring a plain, honest, “built-for-real-life” approach to private student lending. Abe covers up to the full cost of an education,¹ and offers a unique combination of repayment plans, loan terms and deferment/forbearance options. Abe was created by Monogram LLC, the leader in data-driven private student lending products and programs. More information can be found at abestudentloans.com, Facebook (bit.ly/4xLHNKp), or Instagram (bit.ly/4A5JMKZ).

*This glossary is provided by Abe (abestudentloans.com) for educational purposes only and is not financial, legal, or tax advice. Federal loan rules and program details, including IDR plan availability, PSLF requirements, and loan limits, can change. For current information, visit studentaid.gov or speak with your school’s financial aid office.

1. The minimum loan amount is $1,000, except for (a) student applicants who are permanent residents of Iowa in which case the minimum loan amount is $1,001, and (b) student applicants or cosigners who are permanent residents of Massachusetts in which case the minimum loan amount is $6,001. The maximum loan amount to cover in-school expenses for each academic year is determined by the school’s cost of attendance, minus other financial aid, as certified by the school. The requested loan amount cannot cause an individual student applicant’s aggregate education loan debt (which includes federal and private student loans) to exceed $300,000 per student applicant applying for an undergraduate loan, $350,000 per student applicant applying for a graduate, graduate certificate, Healthcare Professionals, Law or MBA loan, or $500,000 per student applicant applying for a Medical or Dental loan. The requested loan amount cannot cause the aggregate education loan debt of a cosigner, applying jointly for an Abe loan, to exceed $999,999.99.
