A native New Yorker, Dr. Lieberman's attendance at the star-studded gala underscores her long-standing commitment to ensuring "America Never Forgets" and her role as one of the nation's most recognized voices on terrorism psychology. She is available for media interviews and commentary as the nation marks the 25th anniversary of the 9/11 terror attacks, drawing on her expertise as an award-winning author and therapist. Recently, she hosted several 9/11 families on her long-running podcast, Dr. Carole's Couch, where they shared personal stories of loss, resilience, and the ongoing psychological impact of that day.

MOBILE BILLBOARD ACTIVATION — FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 11 Following tonight's commemoration, Dr. Lieberman will again debut her city-wide public awareness initiative on Friday, September 11th. Now in its sixth year, the mobile billboard will circulate from 8:00 AM to 6:00 PM throughout Manhattan, including the areas surrounding Ground Zero, major media corridors, and high-visibility public spaces. The billboard features a new music-video program Dr. Lieberman created to mark the 25th anniversary of 9/11 — a project designed to honor the lives lost, support survivors, and remind Americans of the ongoing psychological and geopolitical threats posed by terrorism.

The program blends archival imagery with present-day context, offering viewers a concise, accessible message about resilience, vigilance, and healing. As The Terrorist Therapist®, Dr. Lieberman has spent 25 years helping Americans understand the emotional and psychological impact of terrorism — from trauma symptoms that persist decades later to the rising threat landscape facing the United States and the world today.
