Santa Fe Artivist Jacqueline Rudolph Featured at Prestigious Paris Carrousel du Louvre Art Exhibition

SANTA FE, NM, UNITED STATES, September 10, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Contemporary impressionist portrait painter Jacqueline Rudolph has been selected by Paris-based Mecenavie Gallery to showcase her artwork at the world-famous Carrousel du Louvre Art Shopping international exhibition. The renowned event will take place in Paris, France, October 23 to October 25, 2026.

I AM Valued (I AM Series "30" x "24")

Based in the vibrant arts community of Santa Fe, New Mexico, Jacqueline Rudolph is celebrated for her unique activist approach to contemporary portraiture. Her work delves deep into the use of color palettes that capture a vivid portrayal of her subjects through their eyes, face and overall compelling features.

The portraits to be on display in Paris are part of Rudolph's "I AM" Series, a declaration of multicultural identity and collective humanity—an expression of the unity of diversity. It affirms that every individual voice matters, and that the words "I AM" hold power: power to claim space, to honor heritage, and to stand rooted in dignity. Each piece reflects both individuality and interconnectedness, illustrating how our many cultures, faces, and stories form one human tapestry.
