“

I came to construction from professional kitchens, and I run this company the way I learned to cook, respect the details, and no shortcuts. Ten years in, that standard hasn't moved an inch.”

Michel Waters

NJ Dream Builders operates on a design-build model a concept that few companies offer where design and construction are handled by the same team. Michel's wife, Elise Waters is the company's lead designer, and works directly with homeowners on layout, materials, and finishes, while the company's own expert carpenters execute the build, an approach that eliminates the communication gap homeowners often face when hiring a separate designer and general contractor.

The company's core services include high-end kitchen remodeling in Ocean City and the surrounding area, total bathroom renovations, custom exterior decks and porches, home additions and extensions, custom trim and built-ins, and whole-house remodeling. In addition to the extensive remodeling services, the company is fully insured and licensed under the NJ Home Improvement Contractor License #13VH11446200.

Working almost exclusively in sought after coastal communities has shaped how the company builds. The salt air, humidity, and flood-zone requirements are constant factors in shore-area construction, and NJ Dream Builders specs its projects accordingly with corrosion-resistant fixtures and marine-grade hardware, solid wood and marine-grade plywood cabinetry, waterproofing systems behind tile work, and FEMA-compliant engineering on additions in flood zones. coastal focus is visible across the company's large portfolio, from full gut kitchen renovations and custom millwork bars to a specialty in bathroom remodeling in Ocean City homes.

"I came to construction from professional kitchens, and I run this company the way I learned to cook when I was a professional chef: respect the details, and no shortcuts," said Michel Waters, owner of NJ Dream Builders. "In 2016 this was a small crew taking on carpentry jobs. Now ten years later it's a full design-build team, but the standard hasn't moved an inch: if our name is on the project, the work has to be right. The part I'm proudest of isn't the portfolio we have, it's that most of our projects still come from referrals and repeat clients. That means the homeowners of Ocean City keep vouching for us, and we don't take that lightly."

In addition to its Ocean City home base, NJ Dream Builders has expanded to serving homeowners throughout Atlantic and Cape May County, including Marmora, Somers Point, Longport, Margate City, Ventnor City, Sea Isle City, Northfield, Galloway, Linwood, Brigantine and most of South Jersey. .

As it enters its second decade, the company is doubling down on the work that built its name, high-end kitchen and bathroom renovations across the barrier-island and mainland towns surrounding its Ocean City headquarters. Every project begins the same way with a free in-home estimate where homeowners meet the company's own designer, so the plan, the budget, and the build take shape together from the first visit rather than being handed between separate firms.
