DEE PAT'S AWSOMOTIVE ANNOUNCES STANDARD 5,000-MILE AUTO SERVICE TO MAKE MAINTENANCE EASY FOR LONG ISLAND DRIVERS

LEADING SUFFOLK COUNTY AUTO SHOP LOCATED IN SELDEN, NY DETAILS ITS 5,000-MILE SERVICE TO IMPROVE VEHICLE PERFORMANCE, EFFICIENCY, LONGEVITY

Dee Pats Awsomotive Auto Repair Shop in Selden, NY

SELDEN, NY, UNITED STATES, September 10, 2026 / EINPresswire.com/ -- Dee Pat's Awsomotive, one of Suffolk County's top-rated auto repair shops, has released details of its standardized 5,000-mile auto service package, giving Long Island drivers a convenient maintenance option that can improve vehicle longevity, fuel efficiency, and performance.

"Drivers assume that it's the total amount of miles driven that kills their cars, which is only half the story," said Dee Pat's Awsomotive owner and Master Mechanic Jeff Boeckel. "It's miles without service that really takes the life out of a vehicle. Neglecting tune-ups leads to serious mechanical and electrical issues, and this typically leads to more breakdowns, more frustration for the owner, and bigger repair bills."

> Have your vehicle serviced by a professional. Maintenance every 5,000 miles is the easiest rule to follow, no matter the age of the vehicle or its service history."

Boeckel offers a simple solution to avoid costly repairs and vehicle troubles. "Have your vehicle serviced by a professional. Maintenance every 5,000 miles is the easiest rule to follow, no matter the age of the vehicle or its service history."

Dee Pat's Awsomotive combines a detailed vehicle inspection with essential maintenance in its

5,000-mile auto service package. The added checks can identify issues in older cars with irregular service records, helping to catch issues early before they become costly repair bills.

DEE PAT'S AWSOMOTIVE COMPREHENSIVE 5,000-MILE SERVICE

The company's comprehensive 5,000-mile service includes vehicle maintenance steps to protect and improve performance.

- Oil and Filter Change: Dee Pat's Awsomotive performs a full oil change with semi-synthetic or full synthetic oil, with an optional Seafoam additive to reduce wear and improve fuel economy.
- Full Tire Service: Rotation, balancing, pressure reset, and sensor checks for even tire wear, better grip, and safety.
- Suspension and Steering Inspection: Struts, shocks, tie rods, ball joints, and control arm bushings are inspected for wear.
- Complete Brake Inspection: Including pads, rotors, calipers, hoses, and brake lines for wear and damage.
- Battery, Electrical, and Fluid Check: Including exhaust, belts, hoses, and all major fluids.
- Road Test and Diagnostics: A trained technician runs extensive computer diagnostics and performs a road test to detect any irregular or intermittent problems or error codes.

In total, the service includes 22 major maintenance and inspection points. The inspecting technician provides a thorough maintenance report of work performed, including details of any concerns, with error codes, pictures, and video.

SIGNS THAT A VEHICLE IS OVERDUE FOR MAINTENANCE SERVICE

Visiting an auto shop every 5,000 miles for vehicle maintenance is the safest rule for drivers to follow, but Dee Pat's Awsomotive also notes that customers should book service when they notice early warning signs of a component or system failure, including:

- Dashboard warning lights, especially the check engine, oil, or maintenance light.
- Unusual sounds when braking, turning, or idling.
- Fluid spots underneath the vehicle or burning oil odors while driving.
- Any other concerns about vehicle performance or safety.
