Jimmy Heckenberg is selling Beverly Hills

Located on a quiet, tree-lined street near the heart of Beverly Hills' Golden Triangle, the reimagined Spanish-style residence offers five bedrooms, six bathrooms and approximately 4,466 square feet of living space. The two-story home sits on a 7,649-square-foot lot just moments from Roxbury Park, Beverly Hills High School and Rodeo Drive.

The residence pairs its original architectural character with a fully redesigned interior. Its main level features formal living and family rooms, a media area, a lounge-style bar and a chef's kitchen finished with premium appliances, custom cabinetry and imported countertops.

Four en-suite bedrooms are located upstairs, including a private primary suite with a large wardrobe room and spa-inspired bathroom. A fifth en-suite bedroom and dedicated office are positioned on the main level.

Designed for indoor-outdoor living, the grounds include manicured lawns, a heated pool and spa, a built-in barbecue and several spaces for outdoor dining and entertaining.

"Roxbury Drive is one of those Beverly Hills locations that draws buyers because it offers privacy, convenience and a real neighborhood feel," said Heckenberg. "This sale shows that well-presented homes in strong locations continue to command attention."

Heckenberg leads the Heckenberg Realty Group at Rodeo Realty and is widely recognized for his work throughout Beverly Hills and the Los Angeles Westside.
