

ShipAndStorage.com Expands Door-to-Door Storage and Worldwide Delivery

Technology platform lets customers schedule pickup, storage and future delivery online across 220+ countries without visiting a storage facility.

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, September 14, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- ShipAndStorage.com announced the expansion of its technology-powered shipping, storage and delivery platform, giving customers a modern way to schedule pickup, store eligible belongings and arrange future delivery—all without routinely visiting a traditional storage facility.

The platform brings shipping, storage, digital management and worldwide delivery together through one seamless online experience. Customers can compare available transportation options, select storage services, make secure payments and schedule delivery to a future destination in the United States or internationally.

Storage should move with your life. ShipAndStorage.com lets customers arrange pickup, storage and worldwide delivery online—from their doorstep to wherever they go next.”

ShipAndStorage.com

“ShipAndStorage.com brings professional pickup, flexible storage and worldwide delivery together, giving customers one dependable partner from their doorstep to their next destination,” said Mike Ulker, CEO of ShipAndStorage.com. “Customers can manage the process online and schedule delivery when and where they need their belongings.”

A Modern Alternative to Traditional Self-Storage

Traditional self-storage often requires customers to drive to a facility, transport and unload their belongings, and return later for retrieval. ShipAndStorage.com offers a technology-led, door-to-door alternative.

Through the platform, customers can obtain a quote, compare available shipping options, generate labels when applicable, make secure payments, coordinate pickup or drop-off, manage stored items digitally and request future delivery. This connected process reduces the time, transportation and coordination normally required to manage stored belongings.

Storage follows the customer instead of requiring the customer to repeatedly visit a storage facility.

Worldwide Delivery Across More Than 220 Countries

ShipAndStorage.com supports domestic service and international delivery across more than 220 countries and territories through available services from leading carriers, including FedEx, DHL and UPS.

Its comparison-based model helps customers evaluate available services and access discounted shipping rates, creating an experience that feels more like booking travel than renting and managing a conventional storage unit.

Customers can arrange storage today and schedule delivery later—whether they are returning home, beginning another school term, traveling to another country or preparing for a future event.

Built for Students, Travelers and Families

Storage and delivery solutions for domestic and international travelers

The expanded service arrives as customers prepare for back-to-school moves, holiday travel, winter ski vacations, extended international trips and major events such as Formula 1 weekend in Las Vegas.

From college moves in New York, Los Angeles, Boston, Chicago and San Francisco to international travel across Japan, France, Spain, Italy and the United Kingdom, ShipAndStorage.com serves students, universities, camps and traveling families with online pickup, storage and scheduled future delivery.

Students can store boxes and dorm belongings between semesters and arrange delivery for the next school term. Skiers and snowboarders can store equipment after a winter trip and schedule its return before their next vacation. Travelers can manage luggage, sports equipment and seasonal belongings around multi-city itineraries or extended stays.

Through its relationship with the American Camp Association, ShipAndStorage.com also supports convenient shipping and storage solutions for camp families and participating organizations.

Storage for Changing Lifestyles

ShipAndStorage.com supports a wide range of eligible items and customer needs, including:

- College boxes and dorm belongings
- Luggage and personal items
- Skis, snowboards and golf equipment
- Holiday decorations and seasonal belongings
- Business records and office materials
- Trade-show displays and event supplies

The advertisement for Ship and Storage features a young woman with a backpack carrying boxes out of a storage unit. The unit is filled with various items like a soccer ball, a lamp, and more boxes. The background shows a university building with a 'WELCOME STUDENTS' sign. The text 'BACK-TO-SCHOOL STORAGE MADE EASY' is prominent, along with the tagline 'WE STORE. YOU FOCUS. WE DELIVER WHEN YOU NEED IT.' Below this, icons represent services: Student Storage, Summer Storage, Dorm Moves, and Study Abroad Support. At the bottom, it highlights 'STORE TODAY. RETURN NEXT SEMESTER.' and 'FLEXIBLE. AFFORDABLE. STRESS-FREE.' along with icons for secure facilities, 24/7 monitoring, clean & climate controlled storage, and support.

The platform is also useful for seasonal residents, relocating families, remote workers and travelers who need belongings collected in one location and delivered to another at a later date.

Flexible Solutions for Businesses

Small businesses, e-commerce operators, event organizers, remote teams and corporate travelers can use ShipAndStorage.com to coordinate inventory, records, packaged equipment, marketing materials, trade-show supplies and seasonal items.

Centralized online coordination helps businesses plan inbound shipments, temporary storage and future delivery across multiple locations without maintaining unnecessary permanent space. This flexibility can support conferences, employee relocations, distributed teams, seasonal demand and temporary projects.

ShipAndStorage.com also works with storage operators, property managers, universities, student-housing providers, business centers, e-commerce merchants, corporate-housing providers and relocation organizations to make shipping and storage more convenient for their customers.

Technology Supporting the Complete Storage Journey

ShipAndStorage.com uses intelligent automation to simplify the storage lifecycle, including:

- Carrier and service comparison
- Online quotation and ordering
- Pickup and delivery coordination
- Digital payment processing
- Shipment tracking
- Storage management
- Flexible retrieval requests
- Domestic and international delivery

Customers can arrange storage, monitor their shipments and schedule future delivery through one connected, e-commerce-style experience.
