

Entretien Pro-Écolo Expands Chemical-Free Commercial Cleaning to Medical Clinics Across Montreal and the North Shore

Montreal commercial cleaning company in business since 2014 brings its no-harsh-chemicals approach to clinics and daycares as the fall virus season begins.

MONTRÉAL, QUÉBEC, CANADA, September 11, 2026 / EINPresswire.com/ -- Entretien Pro-Écolo, a Montreal commercial cleaning company in business since 2014, has expanded its clinic cleaning service across Montreal and the North Shore. The service applies the company's approach of cleaning without harsh chemicals to medical clinics, dental clinics, daycares and professional offices, environments where the people present are often the most sensitive to the products used on surfaces and in the air.

The expansion arrives as clinics and childcare facilities prepare for the fall and winter virus season, a period when cleaning frequency increases and the products used in those spaces come under closer scrutiny from managers, staff and parents.

"A clinic is not an office tower. Patients, children and medical staff spend hours in rooms that get cleaned every day, and the residue left behind by aggressive products stays in the space long after the cleaning crew leaves," said Brahim Tassine of Entretien Pro-Écolo. "The decision to specialize in these environments was a positioning choice. Standard commercial cleaning treats every building the same. Clinics and daycares deserve a different standard."

and high-touch surfaces such as door handles, counters and seating, with scheduling available outside clinic hours to avoid disruption to patients and staff.

Entretien Pro-Écolo has served Montreal-area businesses since 2014 with cleaning products selected to limit harsh chemicals while maintaining the results expected in professional settings. The company positions the approach as a practical standard for facilities that host vulnerable people rather than as a marketing claim.

"Green cleaning has been part of the company name since day one, so the question clients ask is not whether it works but where it matters most," Tassine said. "The answer is clinics and daycares. That is where the difference between a clean surface and a chemically loaded surface has real consequences for the people inside."
