CRM Digital Inc. Expands Digital Marketing Services in League City

Expanded support connects web development, SEO, social media, digital advertising, analytics and reporting for League City businesses.

WEBSTER, TX, UNITED STATES, September 11, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- CRM Digital Inc., a digital marketing and web development company based in the Greater Houston area, is expanding its digital marketing support for businesses in League City, Texas. The development builds on the company's existing service coverage in League City by broadening the scope of its digital marketing work with local businesses.

> League City businesses need connected digital strategies," said CRM Digital owner Michael Marquardt. "Our expanded support unites marketing channels and data to guide decisions."

The broader service scope is intended to connect different areas of digital marketing within a coordinated strategy for League City businesses. Depending on project scope, the company's work can incorporate website design, search engine optimization, social media and digital advertising.

Analytics and reporting use information from platforms including Google Analytics and Google Search Console to assess website activity and campaign performance. The findings provide context for evaluating ongoing digital efforts and identifying areas where adjustments may be appropriate.

League City remains part of CRM Digital Inc.'s wider Greater Houston-area service coverage. The company maintains locations in Webster and Houston and serves organizations seeking individual digital services or marketing support across multiple online channels. The company also provides digital marketing services to businesses in communities across the Greater Houston area. Projects are structured around research, planning, implementation, monitoring and reporting, with the process applied to individual assignments as well as digital marketing programs spanning several service areas.
