Get ready to saddle up! Stagecoach returns to Indio's Empire Polo Club from April 23-25, 2027, bringing together country music's biggest names together with genre-spanning artists for three days in the desert. Today, the festival unveils its highly anticipated 2027 lineup, setting the stage for a weekend packed with superstar performances, rising talent shaping the future of country music, international talent and the signature Stagecoach experience. Tickets go on-sale starting Friday, September 18 at 11am PT at stagecoachfestival.com, with payment plans offered at only $49 down.

Set to headline Stagecoach 2027 are: Riley Green, whose highly anticipated new record That's Just Me is set for release on September 18; Zach Top, who just earned two more nominations at the 60th Annual CMA Awards and is currently in the midst of his extensive headline tour; and Garth Brooks, who's currently on the road with his acclaimed "Blame It All On My Roots" arena tour. In addition, a reunited Florida Georgia Line is set for a special late-night set at the festival, marking the duo's first officially announced performance since teasing a reunion earlier this year.

Of his upcoming performance, Riley Green shares, "Let's do this again. We're excited to make it back out to the desert after a wild ride last year. We'll probably stay all weekend and catch the other sets so come join us." Zach Top recalls, "When we played Stagecoach in 2024, it was one of the very first festivals where we really drew a crowd for our set. We packed out the Palomino stage and I remember feeling like we were really doing something. Now to be back in 2027 as a headliner is just something truly special." "Stagecoach is a guaranteed good time," Garth Brooks adds. "I was shocked by how personal everything there is...from the people working the venue to the people singing along. A MUST if you're a Country music fan!"

The 2027 lineup brings together country stars, rising voices and artists from across rock, pop, Latin, reggae and beyond, including HARDY, Willie Nelson & Family, Kelly Clarkson, Brothers Osborne, Shaboozey, DASHA, STELLA LEFTY, Stephen Wilson Jr, Journey, Pitbull, Carín León, Matchbox Twenty, Cameron Whitcomb and many more.

Additionally, Late Night on Mustang Stage, presented by Boot Barn, returns with Sean Paul, Florida Georgia Line and Flo Rida, shifting into full-throttle mode after dark with big singalongs and familiar hits that keep the party going after the main stages wrap. "The last time we played Stagecoach was back in 2018, and a whole lot of life has happened since then," Florida Georgia Line shares. "There's something really special about getting to come back to the desert together, step on that stage again, and share these songs and memories with the fans who have been with us through it all. We couldn't think of a better place to do it."

Two of Stagecoach's fan-favorite attractions, Diplo's HonkyTonk, now in its fifth year, and Guy Fieri's Stagecoach Smokehouse, return for 2027. Diplo's HonkyTonk brings dance music to the desert all weekend long, while Guy Fieri's Stagecoach Smokehouse serves up barbecue from top chefs, pit bosses and standout vendors. Throughout the weekend, Guy and friends will host daily cooking demonstrations with special guests from the Stagecoach lineup, alongside tastings and more Smokehouse fun. Stay tuned for the full food and HonkyTonk lineups—there's plenty more to come.

Amazon Music is returning as Stagecoach's exclusive livestream destination for the fifth year in a row. Fans will be able to stream live performances from artists on Amazon Music, Prime Video, Twitch, Amazon Live, and the Amazon Music app on Fire TV. Fans can also listen to the Official Stagecoach Playlist streaming now exclusively on Amazon Music here.

ADDITIONAL ARTIST QUOTES:

Kelly Clarkson: "This is my first time performing at Stagecoach! I'll be the one havin' a good time! See y'all there!"

Gustavo Mioto: “It’s incredibly special for so many reasons. Stagecoach is one of the most important festivals in the world, and for me, it means even more because I’ll be representing Brazil and Brazilian country music on a stage of this magnitude. Being the first Brazilian sertanejo artist to perform at the festival is a huge honor, but also a huge responsibility.”

STELLA LEFTY: “Seeing my name on the lineup for Stagecoach for the first time is so exciting! Especially being listed with so many artists that I love and respect. This is such a bucket list item, I can’t wait!”

HARDY: “I’m so pumped to be back at Stagecoach next year. We’ve been working on an entirely new tour set, and I can’t think of a better place to debut it for the first time.”

Brothers Osborne: “We’re super pumped to get back out to Indio, CA. Stagecoach is basically Coachella’s cousin with a checkered past, so we feel right at home.”

Matchbox Twenty: "We're thrilled to be part of the Stagecoach 2027 line-up. Excited to take the stage in the desert!”
