

Prestige Matchmaking Pros Welcomes Veteran Matchmaker Patti Feinstein as AI Reshapes Modern Dating

Patti Feinstein joins Linda Goldfischer at Prestige Matchmaking Pros, bringing decades of experience as AI transforms the modern dating landscape.

NAPLES, FL, UNITED STATES,
September 14, 2026 /
EINPresswire.com/ -- Artificial intelligence can write your dating profile. It can improve your photographs, craft an opening message and analyze compatibility.

But can it recognize chemistry?

That question is at the center of a new chapter for Prestige Matchmaking Pros, as veteran matchmaker Patti Feinstein joins Founder & CEO Linda Goldfischer in Southwest Florida, bringing decades of matchmaking experience to the boutique firm serving relationship-minded singles in Florida and nationwide.

matchmakers more valuable.

The partnership comes as artificial intelligence is beginning to transform how singles meet, communicate and present themselves online.

AI can already help create polished dating profiles, select or enhance photographs and compose messages. As the technology becomes more sophisticated, Feinstein believes it could dramatically change conventional online dating.

But she doesn't believe it will eliminate professional matchmaking. In fact, it may make experienced human "Technology can analyze information, but matchmaking isn't just information," Feinstein said. "Two people can look perfect together on paper and have absolutely no chemistry when they meet. After decades in this business, you learn that what people say they want and who they actually connect with aren't always the same thing."

Feinstein brings an established history in the matchmaking industry, including her work through More Than a Matchmaker and America's Dating Coach. Her experience complements Goldfischer's personalized approach at Prestige Matchmaking Pros, where curated introductions, privacy and individual attention remain central to the matchmaking process.

There is also a growing issue of authenticity.

As AI-generated photographs, profiles and messages become increasingly difficult to distinguish from authentic ones, singles may find themselves wondering whether the person they encounter online accurately reflects the person they will eventually meet.

For Goldfischer, that makes the human element even more important.

"Technology can be an incredible tool, but relationships are still deeply personal," Goldfischer said. "Our role is to understand the person behind the profile—their values, lifestyle, relationship goals and the qualities that may create a meaningful connection. Patti brings tremendous experience and intuition to that process, and I'm excited to welcome her to Prestige."

Together, Goldfischer and Feinstein see the next evolution of matchmaking not as a competition between technology and people, but as an opportunity to use innovation while preserving the judgment, discretion and personal connection that successful matchmaking requires.
