Cleaning 365 Expands Integrated Facility Management Across Ontario and British Columbia

Cleaning, preventive maintenance and emergency repairs move under one contract for commercial, healthcare and industrial buildings, with 24/7 response.

MISSISSAUGA, ONTARIO, CANADA, September 14, 2026 / EINPresswire.com/ -- Cleaning 365 Services has expanded its integrated facility management services to commercial, healthcare, retail and industrial buildings across the Greater Toronto Area, wider Ontario and British Columbia. The expansion places commercial cleaning, janitorial work, preventive maintenance, emergency repairs and general building support under one contract, managed by one accountable team.

The expanded program covers commercial and janitorial cleaning for offices, retail and multi-tenant buildings; warehouse and industrial cleaning; medical and dental facility cleaning; scheduled preventive maintenance; emergency maintenance with 24-hour response; and day-to-day building support. Facility managers hold one service agreement and one point of contact rather than a separate contract for each function. That structure addresses a problem most facility managers absorb quietly. A building running on separate Commercial Cleaning Services, maintenance and repair vendors leaves the coordination with the person managing the site, and the work that falls between two contracts is usually the work that gets missed. When a floor is damaged during a cleaning shift or a washroom fixture fails overnight, responsibility is often disputed before it is assigned.

> “Facility managers shouldn’t have to coordinate multiple vendors to keep one building running. We bring cleaning, maintenance and emergency support together under one accountable team.”

"Most of the buildings we take on were already paying three or four contractors to keep one property running," said Sana Salman, President and CEO of Cleaning 365 Services. "When cleaning, maintenance and repairs sit with different vendors, the gaps between them become the facility manager's problem. Putting those functions on one contract means there is one team answerable for whether the building is clean, safe and operating, and one number to call when something fails outside business hours."

Cleaning 365 Services provides professional commercial cleaning and janitorial services across Ontario and British Columbia.

Cleaning 365 combines facility maintenance, cleaning and building support under one service agreement.

In healthcare and dental facilities, the company operates a continuous hygiene model rather than cleaning only at opening and closing. High-touch surfaces in waiting areas, treatment rooms and reception zones are disinfected at set intervals through operating hours, with work sequenced around patient flow so appointments are not interrupted. Infection prevention protocols are applied to equipment surfaces, counters and shared contact points.

Retail sites are scheduled against customer traffic rather than against a fixed clock, so presentation holds through the busiest trading periods, which is when most reactive schedules fall behind. In warehouse and industrial facilities, Cleaning 365 uses zone-based scheduling, completing work in phases across defined areas so that production lines, loading operations and storage zones keep running rather than shutting down section by section.

Preventive maintenance is scheduled and reported per site, with condition reporting given to the property owner or manager rather than logged internally. Emergency maintenance is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, for failures that cannot wait for a business-hours callout.

Product selection is handled at the building level. ECOLOGO and GREENGUARD certified products are used in occupied spaces such as offices, clinics and retail floors, where people remain on site while cleaning is underway, and heavier-duty products are reserved for back-of-house and industrial areas. Clients can request the product list and safety data sheets in use at their site.

Buildings transferring from an existing vendor go through a standard onboarding process: a site walkthrough and scope audit, a written service plan and schedule, crew assignment with site-specific training, then a phased start so the building is never uncovered during changeover. Most transitions are completed within two to four weeks of a signed agreement.

Cleaning 365 Services is ISSA CIMS certified and ISO 9001 certified, WSIB insured, WHMIS certified, SafeContractor approved, and a member of IPC. Cleaning teams are trained to the environment they work in, including hazard communication and site safety requirements.
The company currently services more than 200 buildings and has operated for more than 10 years. For clients running several sites, scheduling and supervision are centralized, so a portfolio spread across Ontario and British Columbia is held to one specification and reported through one line rather than negotiated building by building.
"Consistency across a portfolio is harder than doing one building well," said Salman. "The reason multi-site standards slip is that each location ends up with its own arrangement, its own supplier and its own definition of clean. Centralizing the scheduling and the supervision is what removes that variation, and it is most of what this expansion has gone into."
