Easy Moving Adds Long-Distance Routes to Orlando, Brooklyn, Sarasota, and the Bronx

CHARLOTTE, NC, UNITED STATES, September 14, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Easy Moving today announced the launch of four new long-distance routes originating from Charlotte, extending its interstate moving network to Orlando, Brooklyn, Sarasota and the Bronx. The expansion builds on the company's earlier corridors to Atlanta, Queens, Miami and Manhattan, and is designed to give customers a wider set of direct, predictable relocation options along fast-growing Sun Belt and Northeast markets.

The new Charlotte to Orlando movers corridor reflects Central Florida's continued growth, from established neighborhoods to newer master-planned communities, with route planning calibrated for both single-family estate moves and high-rise condo deliveries. Easy Moving's Charlotte to Sarasota movers route rounds out its Florida coverage, giving retirees and relocating families a dedicated option for Gulf Coast moves without switching carriers mid-route.

On the Northeast side, Easy Moving has formalized service to Brooklyn and the Bronx, extending its existing New York City presence beyond Manhattan and Queens. The Charlotte to Brooklyn movers and Charlotte to Bronx movers corridors are integrated into the company's broader network of long-distance moving services, which include full-service packing, single-crew handling, and binding flat-rate pricing set before pickup rather than estimated after the fact.

Each of the four new corridors is staffed by a dedicated route-planning team familiar with the destination market's specific logistics, whether that means condo association paperwork and elevator reservations in Orlando and Sarasota, or walk-up buildings and co-op board requirements across Brooklyn and the Bronx. Customers can choose full-service packing and furniture protection or a transport-only option depending on how much preparation they want to handle themselves.

With eight active long-distance corridors now running out of Charlotte, Easy Moving continues to position the city as a central hub in its interstate network, connecting North Carolina households and businesses to major population centers across the Southeast and Northeast while keeping pricing, scheduling and route-specific expertise consistent across every destination.
