CleanGo Innovations Inc. Launches 'CleanSet Bio-Remediation Division'

CleanGo Innovations Inc has announced the formal establishment of its new specialized division, CleanSet Bio-Remediation.

HOUSTON, TX, UNITED STATES, September 15, 2026 / EINPresswire.com/ -- CleanGo Innovations Inc. (CSE: CGII) (OTC: CLGOF) (FRA: APO2) ("CleanGo" or the "Company") has announced the formal establishment of its new specialized division, CleanSet Bio-Remediation. This strategic expansion builds upon the company's initial entry into the sector through previous acquisitions, scaling and CleanGo's operational capacity to meet a global demand.

CleanSet Bio-Remediation is actively developing a proprietary suite of remediation technologies engineered to address a comprehensive spectrum of environmental challenges. The division's portfolio spans advanced landfill management solutions, industrial wastewater processing, and heavy oilfield remediation. To accelerate its deployment roadmap, CleanGo Innovations Inc. is currently negotiating distribution agreements with select international companies to secure an array of patented, global technologies. These strategic partnerships will directly support CleanSet's international expansion objectives. Once these agreements are finalized, the details will be made public, and CleanGo will provide comprehensive updates to its shareholders and the general market.

To spearhead the division's technological advancement and commercial rollout, CleanGo is assembling a robust management team to spearhead this Bio-Remediation division. Bringing an extensive background in applied environmental science, industrial biotechnology, and complex ecological remediation systems. While providing critical technical leadership as the company transitions its intellectual property from laboratory validation to field operations.

CleanSet Bioremediation is scheduled to commence live-site field testing for several of its proprietary technologies, generating performance data to validate operational efficacy across commercial and industrial applications

Management Commentary
"Establishing CleanSet Bio-Remediation represents a pivotal evolution for our corporate structure as we systematically target high-margin environmental compliance sectors," said Anthony Sarvucci, Founder and CEO of CleanGo Innovations Inc. "With our new division guiding our technical roadmap and our upcoming live-test phase underway, we are positioned to deploy industrial-grade solutions that directly answer the rigorous remediation demands of our global partners in the energy, waste management, and municipal infrastructure markets."

While CleanGo's core products are already trusted daily in the oil and gas, marine shipping, and commercial hospitality industries, clients have increasingly requested eco-friendly solutions for deeper environmental cleanup. CleanSet directly answers this demand by moving beyond surface cleaning to offer full-scale, on-location intervention. The new division will specialize in down-hole cleaning alongside comprehensive soil and water remediation, allowing CleanGo to deliver end-to-end solutions to both new and existing global clients.
