

IFTS Launches One-Week Website Service to Help Small Law Firms Modernize Their Online Presence in Days, Not Months

New "One Week Website + Local SEO Booster" helps solo small law firms launch a professional website from Monday to Monday - without months of meetings or delays

PITTSBURGH, PA, UNITED STATES, September 14, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Integrity First Technology Solutions, Inc. (IFTS), a marketing and technology company specializing in helping law firms grow, has launched its new One Week Website + Local SEO Booster, a streamlined website program designed specifically for solo attorneys and small law firms across the United States.

The concept is simple: start Monday and launch the following Monday.

Instead of spending months coordinating website meetings, writing content and managing rounds of revisions, participating law firms work with IFTS through a condensed process designed to transform an outdated online presence into a modern, mobile-friendly website in approximately one week.

"Small law firms are already busy serving clients and running their practices. Rebuilding a website shouldn't become another months-long project sitting on an attorney's to-do list," said Stacey A. Ivof, Founder and CEO of IFTS. "We created the One Week Website to give firms a faster, more practical way to modernize how they present themselves online while building a stronger foundation for local visibility."

The program includes a completely rebuilt eight-page WordPress website, including a home page, about page, contact page, testimonials and four additional pages that can be used for practice areas, attorney biographies, FAQs or other firm-specific content.

The website package also includes mobile-responsive design, contact functionality, on-page search optimization, local keyword research, managed hosting and website technology. Rather than requiring attorneys to rewrite their entire website, IFTS works with the firm's existing information and reorganizes and improves usable content as part of the process.

But the program is designed to go beyond simply launching a new website.

The One Week Website + Local SEO Booster also includes Google Business Profile optimization, local citation work, Bing Places setup, professional video content and ongoing paid local promotion designed to strengthen the firm's overall digital presence.

The program is particularly suited to solo attorneys and small firms with websites that are outdated, slow, difficult to use on mobile devices or no longer accurately reflect the quality of the firm.

The service is currently available to qualifying law firms throughout the United States for $350 per month for 12 months.
