

DairyTech Announces the Launch of FoodTech: A Dedicated Sector for the Entire Food Industry.

DairyTech launches FoodTech, a new sector for the global food manufacturing and processing industry, taking place in Moscow in January 2027.

NEW DELHI, NEW DELHI, INDIA, September 17, 2026 / EINPresswire.com/ -- DairyTech, the internationally recognised exhibition and professional ecosystem for the dairy manufacturing industry, announces the launch of FoodTech. FoodTech is a dedicated sector covering the entire food manufacturing and processing sectors. Taking place 26–28 January 2027 at Crocus Expo, Moscow, FoodTech builds on DairyTech's 25-year heritage and marks a significant milestone in expanding the industry ecosystem into a comprehensive, multi-sector platform for food professionals worldwide.

The food and beverage industry is rapidly evolving, demanding platforms built for today's complex food production. FoodTech was created to meet unity under one event the connection between the entire food production industry. It is not an extension of DairyTech, but a distinct exhibition dedicated to professionals, technologies, and supply chains. FoodTech focuses on food manufacturing across meat, poultry, fish, beverages, oils, and more.

People Networking

Exhibition

FoodTech will offer exhibitors and visitors access to the same proven commercial infrastructure that has made DairyTech one of the most effective commercial exhibition platforms in the industry, including structured buyer sessions, pitch sessions, matchmaking, the DairyTech Connect digital community, and year-round access to a targeted professional audience.

Proven Commercial Impact

- 100+ structured buyer meetings per event
- 93.5% result in contracts
- 4.5 billion RUB in preliminary contract value (2026)
- 12,000+ active community members
- 30% of visitors with procurement budgets exceeding 10M RUB

FoodTech will bring together suppliers, equipment manufacturers, ingredient specialists, and technology innovators across four key verticals: Meat & Poultry, Fish & Seafood, Beverages & Liquids, and Oils & Fats. The exhibition is designed to serve both specialists who operate across multiple food sectors and those seeking to expand beyond their current category, offering a single, focused venue where meaningful commercial outcomes are the measure of success.

"FoodTech was created in response to a simple truth: the food industry is interconnected, not isolated into the production of single products, and DairyTech should reflect that. This is why FoodTech is more than the launch of a new sector; it's the opening of a gateway for thousands of professionals who, until now, lacked an event tailored to their needs. Leveraging 25 years of DairyTech's trusted reputation and commercial excellence, FoodTech is set to become the most valuable event on the industry calendar."

— Julia Markova, Event Director, DairyTech & FoodTech

For exhibitors and industry professionals seeking a platform that blends specialist expertise with broad industry reach, FoodTech delivers what the market has long been missing: the depth and trust of a specialist exhibition, combined with the scale and diversity of a comprehensive food industry platform.
