

Shyra Sanchez Announces New Single "Sky is Falling," Her Darkest Release Yet

The Track Drops Sept. 18 as Sanchez Comes Off Sets at Dallas Pride, DJX Atlantic City and Miami Swim Week, With NYFW Still to Come

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, September 16, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Shyra Sanchez is stepping into new territory with "Sky Is Falling," a darker, edgier single that drops Sept. 18. It is set to be remixed by Robbie Rivera, esteemed DJ and music producer. While her previous releases lean into bright dance-pop, this one pulls the tempo back and the mood down, built around the pull between wanting to hold on tightly to someone and knowing it's already slipping away.

The single follows a stretch of high-profile live performances. Sanchez has recently played Dallas Pride, DJX in Atlantic City and Swim Week in Miami, with a Malibu mixer, a set at The Abbey and New York Fashion Week still ahead.

Building on Chart Momentum

"Sky Is Falling" arrives on the back of a run that established Sanchez as a name to watch in dance music. Her debut single "Operator" hit #4 on the UK Official Big Top 40, charting between BTS and Harry Styles, reached #31 on the Billboard Dance/Mix Show Airplay Chart, and spent two consecutive weeks at #1 on the DRT Global Top 100 Independent Airplay Chart.

The single's video racked up over 2M views on YouTube and the remix package drew reworks from Dave Audé, Bimbo Jones, Until Dawn, Marc Baigent and Try Harder, and it saw further activity on the UK's Music Week club chart.

Her follow-up, "Dance With Me," has built on this growing momentum, with digital radio traction in San Francisco, Chicago, Miami, New York and Houston, further establishing Sanchez as one to watch and earning her the fitting title, "Queen of the Dance Floor." She has since amassed a dedicated following of fans, affectionately known as the "ShyShys." The single was also remixed by Robbie Rivera, and radio personality Vic Latino.

Shyra Sanchez, "Sky is Falling" new release out on 9/18/26

When I wrote 'Sky Is Falling' it was about the kind of love I experienced when everything around you feels uncertain or like it's falling apart."

Shyra Sanchez

Sanchez has worked with Grammy-winning producers and acclaimed choreographer and director Travis Payne, and has built an audience of almost 180,000 Instagram followers alongside a growing YouTube subscriber base. Her profile has continued to rise with coverage in US Weekly, the Los Angeles Tribune, iHeartRadio, Rolling Stone UK, and so much more.

Sanchez said: "When I wrote 'Sky Is Falling' it was about the kind of love I experienced when everything around you feels uncertain or like it's falling apart. The song is about letting go of the noise, the fear, and everything happening in the outside world and choosing to be present with the person you love."

The love song for chaotic times

The lyrics stay close to that idea of the world falling away and one person coming into focus. The chorus circles back to a single image, the sky caving in while everything else goes quiet, and pairs it with a plea to stay in this exact moment.

The bridge pictures a version of love stripped of complication, where the only thing that matters is the two people in the room. That contrast between collapse and closeness is what gives the track its edge: the world can fall apart around you, and the song insists that's not a reason to let go of the person next to you.

Sanchez has previously built successful lifestyle brands, mentored emerging talent, and worked as a motivational speaker. She has recently stepped into the music industry, driven by the belief that self-expression is true power.
