Wild Mouse Opens Accredited-Investor Raise on Deal Box, the Internet Capital Formation Platform

MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA, September 17, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Wild Mouse Pty Ltd, developer of the Unearth AI platform, today announced that its United States affiliate, Wild Mouse US Holdings Inc., a Delaware corporation, has opened a private capital raise to verified accredited investors on Deal Box, the online platform for Internet Capital Formation.

AI investment is accelerating, but a core government and enterprise challenge remains: operationalising intelligence across information, policies, decisions and workflows. Critical knowledge is still fragmented across documents, systems, and teams, while organisations must meet rules, approvals, governance and audit requirements. Wild Mouse is focused on the intelligent infrastructure layer that connects these elements and enables both structured and unstructured data to operate within a safe, consistent and scalable AI ecosystem.

Unearth AI is a trusted decision and intelligent orchestration platform that unifies information, organisational knowledge, AI models, business rules and workflows. It helps customers move from information to decision, and from decision into controlled action. Unlike single-task point solutions, Unearth AI provides a reusable foundation that supports multiple products, workflows and deployment models.

The platform is model-agnostic and complements existing technology investments. It orchestrates different AI models, analytical methods, and business rules, enabling organisations to adopt preferred models, respond to regulatory change, and evolve without redesign. Decisions are fully traceable with clear links to source information, models, rules, and approvals, while customer data remains sovereign and controlled.

Wild Mouse is a revenue-generating business with established government and enterprise customers. Unearth AI has been validated through production deployments with Australian Federal and State agencies across food safety, agriculture, and health, demonstrating its ability to operate effectively in high-trust, governance-intensive environments. The investment is intended to accelerate growth with proceeds funding product and engineering, customer delivery, along with the sales and partner capacity.

The offering is being made under Rule 506(c) of Regulation D, which permits an issuer to publicly communicate a private offering provided that every purchaser is a verified accredited investor.

Accredited investors can review the Company overview on the Wild Mouse page at platform.dealbox.io. Accreditation is verified at the issuer level before any offering document is accessible through the Company's Deal Box portal.

“Internet Capital Formation means a founder gets one place to tell their story to verified investors, and they keep their whole raise. Deal Box does not take a cut of the round, ever. We are the platform and the rails, not a broker. When a founder is ready to raise from accredited investors on their own terms, this is exactly what we built the model to do,” said Thomas Carter, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Deal Box.

“Organisations are not short of data. They are short of the confidence to act on it. Too often, critical information is fragmented across systems, making it difficult for leaders to make timely, trusted decisions. Wild Mouse was built to bridge the gap between insight and action, and turn complexity into clarity. We help organisations move beyond using AI as just a tool to make informed, defensible and auditable decisions across systems. This investment allows us to accelerate that mission and bring our capabilities to more organisations globally,” said Christian Spagnardi, Co-Founder of Wild Mouse.
