Reading Partner is the new app for actors. Better rehearsals, better self-tapes, better chances

Created in close dialogue with casting directors and actors, it's intuitive and easy to use so that you can get started immediately.

An easy-to-use rehearsal and self-tape tool for actors

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN, September 17, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Rehearse lines
A quality AI text-to-speech counter-reader that lets you rehearse as often as you want, record dialogues and listen to them in order to memorize and improve.

Create self-tapes
Film yourself reading the audition self-tape dialogues, with an accurate AI counter-reader "actor". No more asking friends, your partner or your mom to read against you.

> I recommend it when I post new casting calls because the quality of the self-tapes increase so much, it makes my job easier"
> Eija Skarsgård, Casting Director

Save your scripts
Each uploaded script creates a project and each project is archived for easy access so that you keep revising and refining your delivery of those precious lines.

Unlimited rehearsals and self-tapes
We've worked hard to work around unpredictable tech costs and found a way that allows for users to rehearse as much as they want and create as many self-tape takes they want as soon as the counter reader dialogue is generated. All easily saved and shared.

Adjust to your liking
Upload scripts in PDF, RTF, TXT or just copy paste it. Then choose language, gender and voice for your project's counter-reader. You can also adjust tempo, toggle teleprompter on and off and show script or just dialogue.

Save your projects and scripts
Test different settings for your scripts in several projects, all easily accessible in your archive. You can also save each take for easy access on the respective project page.

You can download it on Apple App Store, it costs about the same as an expensive cup of coffee

First project free, no strings attached
After that it's $5/month or $50/year. It's not only at the lowest price range for line rehearsal apps, it's a low price for great value and features. No weird hidden fees and no opaque AI token pricing schemes.

"I've tried a few other apps but none of them were good enough so I set out to do it myself"
Roshi Hoss, actress and founder
