SCOTTSDALE, AZ, UNITED STATES, September 22, 2026 / EINPresswire.com/ -- Axio Networks LLC, a Scottsdale-based managed IT and cybersecurity provider, has been named a 2026 Phoenix Magazine Best of the Valley Readers' Choice winner in the Computer Support category. It is the third consecutive year Axio Networks has earned the distinction, following wins in 2024 and 2025.

Best of the Valley is Phoenix Magazine's annual reader-voted awards program recognizing the top businesses, services, and destinations across the Phoenix metropolitan area. According to the magazine, the 2026 program drew nearly 50,000 readers and more than 285,000 votes.

> One win is a good year. Three in a row is a track record, and it belongs to the businesses across the Valley who trust us with their technology."
> Jim O'Connell, Founder & CEO, Axio Networks

"One win is a good year. Three in a row is a track record, and it belongs to the businesses across the Valley who trust us with their technology and to the team that earns that trust one ticket and one project at a time," said Jim O'Connell, Founder and CEO of Axio Networks. "We're a local, owner-operated firm. The way we compete with the big providers is by answering the phone, knowing our clients' environments, and fixing things fast. This award says that approach is working."

Axio Networks has served small and mid-sized businesses across the Phoenix metro area since 2019, with clients in professional services, healthcare, finance, real estate, and construction. The firm pairs enterprise-grade tooling — including 24/7 managed detection and response, hardened next-generation firewalls, and proactive monitoring — with the responsiveness of a local team, averaging under 30 minutes response time on support requests.

The recognition follows a year of expansion for the company, which launched a redesigned axionetworks.com and continues to broaden its managed IT, cybersecurity and compliance, cloud, and communications offerings.
