NORWALK , CT, UNITED STATES, September 18, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Emerging country singer-songwriter Ashley Jo is stepping into a bold new chapter with the release of her latest single, “To Find You.” The track showcases the 19-year-old artist’s powerful vocals and emotionally driven songwriting while further defining a sound that blends traditional country storytelling with an edgy rock & roll influence.

Written by Ashley Jo and guitarist Mike Mazzeo, “To Find You” captures the feeling of being willing to go any distance for someone you love. Built around themes of determination and devotion, the song combines vivid, cinematic imagery with an infectious melody and memorable hook.

The new release marks another step forward for Ashley Jo, who has been steadily building momentum as an independent artist through songwriting, recording, and live performances. She began seriously pursuing music at age 16 and has since written more than 150 songs, collaborating with professional musicians and producers in both Connecticut and Nashville.

Ashley Jo’s debut single, “Hand Me Down,” introduced her to a growing country audience, earning more than 350,000 streams on Spotify, reaching the MusicRow Top 200, and receiving airplay on iHeartRadio’s Kicking Country.

She has also developed a substantial social media following, with more than 70,000 followers on TikTok, where her music, performances, and personality have continued to connect with a new generation of country fans.

Ashley Jo first gained widespread attention after a video of her performing the National Anthem without a microphone while dressed in full hockey goalie gear went viral. The performance ultimately reached millions of viewers and earned coverage from NBC and local media outlets. Since then, she has continued transforming that unexpected viral moment into a developing career as a singer-songwriter and live performer.

Now a sophomore at Monmouth University, Ashley Jo balances college life with her growing music career, continuing to write and record new material while performing throughout the Northeast and in Nashville.
