Logic20/20 named a 2026 Best Firm to Work For by Consulting Magazine

Employee feedback places Logic20/20 among the nation's Best Small Firms to Work For

SEATTLE, WA, UNITED STATES, September 21, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Consulting Magazine has named Logic20/20, a business and technology consulting firm, one of its 2026 Best Firms to Work For in the Small Firms category.

The annual Best Firms to Work For program recognizes consulting firms based on feedback from their employees about the workplace experience. Logic20/20 also received the recognition in 2025.

"Recognition based on feedback from our own people carries special meaning," says Christian O'Meara, chief executive officer of Logic20/20. "Our 'Culture of We' reflects the idea that we accomplish more when we support one another, value different strengths, and work together toward shared goals. This recognition speaks to the environment our Logicians create together and their commitment to making Logic20/20 a place where people can grow and thrive."

Logic20/20's employee experience is grounded in three company values: "Drive toward excellence," "Act with integrity," and "Foster a Culture of We." The firm supports professional growth through career development, training, and opportunities to learn from colleagues, while its Culture of We emphasizes connection and collaboration across teams.

"Our consultants value opportunities to solve meaningful problems, deepen their expertise, and learn from the people around them," says Will Schmidt, Managing Partner at Logic20/20. "We're committed to supporting their career goals while giving them opportunities to bring their experience and perspectives to challenging work. Knowing that this recognition is based on feedback from our consultants makes the honor especially meaningful."

Consulting Magazine recognized its 2026 Best Firms to Work For honorees at an awards ceremony Sept. 17 in Chicago.
