The J. David Tax Law Denver office represents taxpayers dealing with collection actions such as IRS wage garnishments, bank levies, and federal tax liens. The legal team includes licensed tax attorneys and support staff. They work directly with the IRS and the Colorado Department of Revenue to resolve tax disputes, including Colorado state tax liens, distraint warrants, wage and bank garnishments issued by the Department's collections division, and unpaid Colorado individual, business, and sales tax.

"Colorado's economy has grown quickly, and many self-employed professionals and small business owners along the Front Range have fallen behind on federal and state taxes as a result," said Jonathan David Sooriash, CEO and Founder of J. David Tax Law. "When the IRS or the Colorado Department of Revenue starts garnishing wages or freezing a bank account, people need a tax attorney in their own city who can act that day. Our Denver office gives them that, and our intake team answers the phone around the clock so no one has to wait until Monday morning to get help. Our attorneys contact the taxing authority directly, stop the collection action, and negotiate a resolution the client can actually afford."

Services available at the Denver office include:

- Stopping IRS and Colorado wage garnishments and bank levies
- IRS and Colorado tax lien release and withdrawal
- Installment agreements (IRS and Colorado payment plans)
