Qi Chong is a senior expert in international finance, climate governance and cross-border diplomatic cooperation, with rich hands-on experience and extensive industrial influence. He currently serves as Chairman of the Global Oasis Climate Fund and Executive Director of Pando Finance Co., Ltd. He is also an honorary economic and financial advisor to multiple foreign embassies in China and a visiting professor at universities. He has long devoted himself to core areas including fund operation and management, private economy empowerment, global climate governance and cross-border diplomatic exchanges.

For a long time, taking the overall global development landscape as his starting point, Qi Chong has continuously delved into international financial innovation, global climate governance and cross-border economic collaboration through multi-dimensional practices in institutional management, industrial coordination and international exchanges. He actively builds bridges for multilateral cooperation between China and countries and regions worldwide. He focuses on promoting the connection of Chinese and foreign private economies, technical cooperation in climate sectors and people-to-people exchanges. He effectively links resources from business communities, climate practitioners and diplomatic circles, removes barriers to cross-border cooperation, integrates high-quality global resources, and continuously empowers the development of multilateral economic cooperation and global climate initiatives. He has made important contributions to coordinated international economic and trade development as well as green and low-carbon development.

At this grand ceremony, after receiving the certificate, trophy and medal, Qi Chong shared his reflections on winning the award, elaborating profoundly on his original aspiration and mission of engaging in international cooperation and climate governance. He then delivered a special speech themed “Global Climate Initiatives and the Digital Economy”. Based on the new landscape of global climate governance and the wave of digital economy development, he offered an in-depth interpretation of opportunities for international climate cooperation and pathways for cross-border coordination of the digital economy. He shared cutting-edge concepts and practical experience on green and low-carbon
