ContractorHUB CEO Sarah Parks Named to METALCON's Inaugural 40 Under 40

The inaugural class honors 40 leaders under 40 advancing metal construction. Parks was cited for raising the standard of technology for the trades.

NASHVILLE, TN, UNITED STATES, September 21, 2026 / EINPresswire.com/ -- Sarah Parks, Co-Founder and CEO of ContractorHUB, has been named to the inaugural class of METALCON's 40 Under 40, which honors 40 professionals age 40 and under driving the future of metal construction.

Honorees were selected for achievement, leadership, innovation and overall impact. The inaugural class spans manufacturing, roofing, engineering, construction, technology, sales, marketing and education.

"Our inaugural 40 Under 40 honorees represent the energy, talent and forward-thinking leadership that are moving the metal construction industry forward," said Judy Geller, Vice President of Trade Shows for PSMJ Resources, Inc., producers of METALCON.

Parks was recognized for pairing deep SaaS expertise with a sharp instinct for what contractors need from a technology partner. She's building that standard into how ContractorHUB operates, raising the bar for customer experience, ingenuity and product value in software built for the trades.

"It's an honor to be recognized as part of this inaugural class," said Parks. "Metal construction is full of people building things meant to last, and being counted among them means a great deal. Our focus hasn't changed: we're here to provide better solutions for the incredible operators in this space."

Parks has spent nearly 15 years leading teams and scaling SaaS companies, and co-founded ContractorHUB to raise the standard for contractors in metal construction and beyond. Under her leadership, ContractorHUB reached general availability in May 2026 on a different premise than the job-management tools that came before it: one AI-native system that runs the whole business, not just “lead to paid.”

Honorees are featured on METALCON.com and recognized onsite at METALCON 2026, taking place October 7–9 at the Orange County Convention Center in Orlando, Florida. The full class is listed at metalcon.com/40under40.
