"A law firm website should feel like the firm it represents, not like a template with a different logo," said Fred Cohen, CEO of Omnizant. "That belief shaped every decision we made on these sites. Each one has its own voice, visual identity and way of connecting with potential clients. We're proud that the Web Marketing Association recognized the thoughtful strategy and creative work our team put into bringing these brands to life."

Inside Omnizant's Award-Winning Legal Websites

Rasansky | McKenzie Law
Rasansky | McKenzie Law's award-winning website brings its "Justice With Strength, Advocacy

With Heart” message to life through striking visuals and compassionate copy. Clear navigation and prominent case results reinforce the firm’s long history of advocating for families.

Fearless Justice
Featuring a confident design, the Fearless Justice website was built around the firm’s commitment to protecting the rights of New York workers. Strong messaging, bold visuals and direct calls to action quickly communicate what the firm offers and whom it serves.

PINEYWOODS LAW
PINEYWOODS LAW’s website creates a sense of place through imagery inspired by the firm’s East Texas home. Its approachable design puts the firm’s “We’re L.O.C.A.L.” values, case results and connection to the community front and center.

About the WebAwards
For almost three decades, the Web Marketing Association’s annual WebAward Competition has celebrated the creativity, strategy and technical skill behind standout digital experiences. Independent judges evaluate entries across 86 industries based on design, innovation, content, technology, interactivity, copywriting and ease of use.
