

Aspire Rejuvenation's Tomo Marjanovic Holds Rare Distinction in Hormone Certification

Marjanovic is a non-doctor who carries WorldLink Medical's ABHRT certification, built mainly for physicians, and says he believes he's the only one.

MIAMI, FL, UNITED STATES, September 21, 2026
/EINPresswire.com/ -- FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Tomo Marjanovic, founder and CEO of Aspire Rejuvenation, treats his own credentials the same way he built the clinic: never finished. Among the certifications he has added over the years is the Advanced Bioidentical Hormone Replacement Therapy (ABHRT) certification through WorldLink Medical, a Salt Lake City, Utah-based training program regarded as one of the most rigorous credentialing tracks in hormone optimization.

WorldLink Medical's ABHRT program is a live workshop series and examination process built primarily for physicians and other licensed prescribers seeking a deeper, evidence-based foundation in bioidentical hormone replacement therapy, instructed by Neal Rouzier, M.D. Marjanovic is a non-doctor who carries that certification, and he says he believes he is the only one the program has ever certified.

I didn't go looking for a shortcut. I wanted to be held to the same standard as the doctors in that room, because that's the standard I expect from my own team.”

"As far as I know, and as far as WorldLink has told me, I'm the only non-doctor they've ever certified through that program," Marjanovic said. "I didn't go looking for a shortcut. I wanted to be held to the same standard as the doctors in that room, because that's the standard I expect from my own team."

WorldLink Medical has trained physicians and clinicians across the country in bioidentical hormone replacement therapy, and its ABHRT certification is widely cited within the hormone optimization field as a mark of advanced, evidence-based training. Completing it is one piece of a standing habit inside Aspire Rejuvenation: certifications and training get revisited and added to on an ongoing basis, not treated as a box checked once and closed.

Marjanovic is not a physician and does not diagnose, prescribe, or treat patients directly. Every protocol at Aspire Rejuvenation is designed and overseen by the clinic's Medical Director, Dr. Joseph Clark, along with Aspire's team of licensed nurse practitioners, based on bloodwork and ongoing lab monitoring. Marjanovic's own certifications shape how he builds and leads that clinical team and the standard he holds it to, not the clinical decisions themselves.

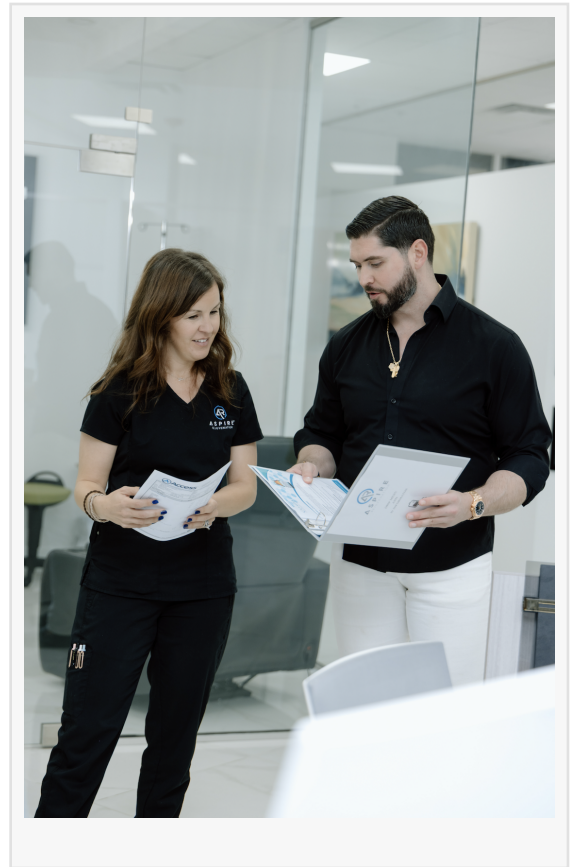

A former 12-year law enforcement officer who received the Public Safety Medal of Valor, Marjanovic founded Aspire Rejuvenation in 2019 after studying hormones and human performance for decades, beginning with his early years in competitive bodybuilding. He has built a large following on Instagram, his largest platform, where he shares the research behind the protocols Aspire offers. He is also the author of Operation Optimal, a guide to health optimization built on the same standard he applies to his own training.

The ABHRT certification joins a list Marjanovic has built over the years, alongside training in anti-aging hormone therapies through the American Academy of Anti-Aging Medicine and additional certifications in peptide therapy and regenerative medicine, each one folded into how Aspire trains and holds its own clinical team accountable.
