IRVINE, CA, UNITED STATES, September 21, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Brett Sachs, founder of MVP Accident Attorneys, has signed stand-up comedian and golf content creator Jake Adams as a sponsored creator for the 2026 season, putting MVP Accident Attorneys in front of Adams' golf audience across his weekly rounds and tournament play through the end of the year. Brett Sachs is a personal injury attorney in Irvine, California, and Jake Adams is the founder of the golf comedy channel Country Club Adjacent. The sponsorship runs for the full 2026 season.

The Jake Adams sponsorship is a season-long brand agreement between MVP Accident Attorneys, a personal injury firm founded by Brett Sachs that is headquartered in Irvine, California and maintains offices in Los Angeles, Sacramento, and Riverside, and Jake Adams, a comedian and golfer whose channel covers golf matches and country club culture. Adams was born August 20, 1991, and grew up on Cape Cod, Massachusetts, playing competitive golf. He attended the Professional Golfers Career College in Temecula, California, then moved to Los Angeles and caddied at Bel-Air Country Club and Wilshire Country Club, work he has credited in his GolfWRX column as the source of his material about club culture. He also wrote for Rickie Fowler's Rocket Mortgage commercials. Adams started Country Club Adjacent during the 2020 pandemic golf boom, and the channel, which describes itself as "bringing comedy to golf," now reaches close to a million followers on Instagram with hundreds of thousands more on YouTube and Facebook, according to a 2024 profile in The Canadian Jewish News. He makes videos with collaborators including Griff Pippin and lives in Los Angeles.

Brett Sachs founded MVP Accident Attorneys in Irvine and has represented injury victims for over 12 years, on both the plaintiff and defense sides of personal injury litigation. His background covers automobile accident cases, insurance defense, and medical provider defense litigation. He graduated Cum Laude from Michigan State University College of Law, where he received the Award for Service in the Civil Rights Clinic, and is admitted in California under State Bar number 297504. He also hosts The MVP of Personal Injury Law Podcast, a personal injury law podcast that covers what accident victims in California should do after a crash, how to document medical treatment, and how insurance companies handle early claims. Episodes draw on the questions Brett Sachs answers for clients in the firm's Irvine, Los Angeles, Sacramento, and Riverside offices. The sponsorship places the firm alongside golf content rather than legal content, reaching drivers and weekend golfers before an accident happens rather than after.
