Flawless, M.D. Brings Advanced Candela® Laser Care to Menlo Park with the Nordlys® and GentleMax Pro Plus® Systems

Physician-performed laser, IPL, and PRP/PRF treatments for skin rejuvenation, pigmentation, vascular concerns, and hair reduction, now on the SF Peninsula

MENLO PARK, CA, UNITED STATES, September 21, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Flawless, M.D., a woman physician-led concierge medical aesthetics, regenerative medicine, and urgent care practice in Menlo Park, announced today the addition of two advanced laser platforms from Candela®: the Nordlys® system and the GentleMax Pro Plus®. Together, the two FDA-cleared systems significantly expand the practice's range of treatment options, giving Peninsula patients access to physician-performed skin care and repair for a wide range of concerns, all performed personally by founder and medical director Un Hui Nam, MD, PharmD.

> “These FDA-cleared laser systems let me customize a plan to each patient's skin type, concerns, and goals, with precision, comfort, and very little downtime.”

The new laser and IPL platforms enable Flawless, M.D. to offer:

• Skin rejuvenation and resurfacing, emphasizing collagen-inducing laser treatments that can improve tone, texture, sun damage, wrinkles, acne scars, and select cases of melasma
• Pigmentation correction, targeting sun damage, age spots, and uneven skin tone
• Vascular treatments for common conditions such as rosacea, spider veins, and facial redness
• Laser hair reduction suited to a broad range of skin types

Flawless, M.D. also offers regenerative medicine through platelet-rich plasma and platelet-rich fibrin (PRP/PRF) therapies, drawn, prepared, and administered personally by Dr. Nam rather than delegated to non-MDs. PRP/PRF uses the patient's own blood-derived growth factors and may be used alongside laser and microneedling procedures to promote collagen induction and healing while minimizing what is already low downtime. PRP/PRF is also a mainstay combination treatment for hair restoration.

"Patients, myself included, want proven results without stepping away from our busy lives for weeks or throwing away hundreds of dollars on useless creams, serums, and other heavily marketed magic potions with no scientific data behind them," said Dr. Nam. "These FDA-cleared laser systems let me customize a plan to each patient's skin type, concerns, and goals, with precision, comfort, and very little downtime. I'm trained as an anesthesiologist with a surgical background, and I have a low pain tolerance myself, so patient comfort is as much a priority as great results. We don't rush patients in and out the way chain and high-volume practices do, especially during procedures that can be exquisitely sensitive."

The Nordlys® System by Candela

Nordlys is a multi-application platform that combines several light and laser technologies in one device, including Selective Waveband Technology (SWT®) intense pulsed light, a 1064 nm Nd:YAG laser, and non-ablative fractional lasers. That range lets Dr. Nam address a wide spectrum of concerns, often in a single visit, including:

- Brown spots and sun damage
- Facial redness, broken capillaries, and rosacea
- Uneven tone and dullness
- Fine lines and early signs of aging
- Vascular lesions, including facial and leg veins

Treatments are non-invasive, designed for minimal downtime, and customized to each patient's skin type and goals.

The GentleMax Pro Plus® by Candela

The GentleMax Pro Plus rounds out the practice's laser suite with dual-wavelength technology, pairing a 755 nm Alexandrite laser with a 1064 nm Nd:YAG laser in one system. This combination makes it well suited to a variety of skin types and supports laser hair reduction, treatment of vascular and pigmented lesions, and overall skin rejuvenation. Together with the Nordlys, it gives Dr. Nam the flexibility to match the right technology to each concern rather than a one-size-fits-all approach.
