Team Background

People don't hire us because we sell homes. They hire us because they trust us to protect one of the biggest decisions of their lives. That trust isn't given — it's earned. And we earn it every day”

Eric Ross

Debra Ross brings 11+ years of top-producing real estate experience, with a professional background in sales, project management, and contract negotiations. Eric Ross contributes 20+ years of experience spanning residential sales, mortgage banking, and underwriting — including roles at Countrywide and Bank of America.

The team employs a four-part methodology — Pricing, Preparation, Promotion, and Presentation — applied consistently across residential listings. Details on their process are outlined on their Why List With Us page.

"We didn't build this team to be average. We built it to change the way people experience real estate — because every family deserves an agent who fights for them like it's their own home on the line," said Eric Ross, Co-Founder and Marketing Director of Ross Realty Group.
