"Families deserve answers and accountability when a loved one suffers serious harm because a nursing home or other care facility failed to provide appropriate care," said Michael Brevda, Founder and Managing Partner of Senior Justice Law Firm. "Establishing a presence in Cleveland allows us to better serve families throughout Ohio while bringing the experience and resources of our national practice to these complex cases."

Founded in 2016, Senior Justice Law Firm focuses its practice on representing elderly and vulnerable adults harmed by abuse, neglect and negligence. The firm has grown to 24 attorneys and more than 50 employees, with attorneys licensed across 28 states, and has recovered more than $100 million for victims and their families.

Unlike general personal injury firms that handle nursing home cases alongside a broad range of other claims, Senior Justice Law Firm concentrates its practice on cases involving vulnerable adults harmed in nursing homes, assisted living facilities, hospitals, home health settings and other care environments.

The firm handles nursing home abuse and neglect cases involving pressure sores and preventable wounds, falls and fractures, infections and sepsis, malnutrition and dehydration, medication errors, physical and sexual abuse, elopement, inadequate staffing and supervision, and wrongful death.

The Cleveland office is part of Senior Justice Law Firm's continued national expansion and commitment to making experienced legal representation more accessible to families affected by elder abuse and neglect.

"Our growth has always been driven by our mission to protect vulnerable adults and help families seek justice when a loved one has been harmed," Brevda said. "As we expand our presence in Ohio and across the country, that focus remains unchanged."

Senior Justice Law Firm offers free and confidential case evaluations to families who suspect a loved one has suffered nursing home abuse or neglect in Cleveland or anywhere in Ohio.
