LifeSecure Emergency Solutions Launches Life-Rescue Line For Overdose and Bleeding Emergencies

New preparedness line adds rescue breathing and NARCAN-ready overdose response to traditional bleeding control for schools, workplaces and first responders.

MIDWAY, UT, UNITED STATES, September 30, 2026 / EINPresswire.com/ -- LifeSecure's newest product line, Life-Rescue™, combines bleeding control, opioid overdose response and rescue breathing into a single package. The Life-Rescue™ line pairs trauma bleeding-control supplies with naloxone-ready overdose response tools, including NARCAN®, and rescue breathing equipment.

This new collection of products responds to a rising need for overdose preparedness alongside traditional trauma response.

Workplace overdose deaths accounted for 8.1% of all occupational injury deaths in 2024, according to the National Safety Council, a trend that has pushed more employers and schools to keep naloxone accessible alongside bleeding-control supplies rather than treating the two as separate categories.

"A tourniquet alone can't reverse an overdose, and NARCAN® alone can't stop a catastrophic bleed. That's why we created the MobileAid® Life-Rescue™ line: to bring bleeding control, overdose response, and rescue-breathing capability together in one organized kit, giving on-site responders and bystanders immediate access to the tools most likely to save a life before EMS arrives," says David Scott, Founder & President, LifeSecure Emergency Solutions.

The Life-Rescue™ line includes four products. The MobileAid® Life-Rescue™ Response Pack is a compact, standalone pack that can also be added to any existing emergency or first-aid kit. The MobileAid® Life-Rescue™ Clear-View™ OTS Kit and Clear-View™ Belt Bag Kit offer lightweight, over-the-shoulder and hands-free on-person carry options, while the MobileAid® Clear-View™ Quick-Case™ Kit is built to ride on MobileAid® Clear-View™ Easy-Roll™ carts and stations.
