D&G Construction completes kitchen remodel in Johnstown built around two islands

The eight-week project pairs a dedicated prep sink with Café appliances, a custom range hood, and a custom pantry piece

JOHNSTOWN, CO, UNITED STATES, September 28, 2026 / EINPresswire.com/ -- D&G Construction, a Colorado design-build firm, has completed a kitchen remodel in Johnstown designed around two islands. The project was finished over eight weeks of construction and is among the firm's most recent completed work.

The layout was planned for hosting. One of the two islands includes a dedicated prep sink, and the kitchen also has a farmhouse sink.
The appliance package is from Café and includes a built-in microwave. A custom range hood was built for the cooking wall, and a custom pantry piece was built to furniture-grade standards.

D&G Construction handled design and construction under one team. More information about the firm's kitchen remodeling work is available on its website.

> When a client tells us they host often, the layout becomes the first decision. Two islands let prep happen separate from the place to gather, and every appliance and custom piece support that."
