NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, September 29, 2026 / EINPresswire.com/ -- Malan Breton presented his Spring/Summer 2027 fashion collection “Le Jardin des Mille Demains,” or “Garden of a Thousand Tomorrows,” at Sony Hall during New York Fashion Week. Breton’s Spring/Summer 2027 women’s and men’s collection is both a celebration and a goodbye. Following the show, the designer’s journey is to continue in Rome, closing one chapter in a career that has encompassed fashion, film, television, theater, music and performance while opening another.

Malan Breton is an internationally recognized luxury fashion house celebrated for timeless craftsmanship, couture artistry, and refined elegance. Over three decades, the brand has received more than 100 international awards and honors, earning recognition from leading fashion publications, including British VOGUE, which described it as "The Most Influential Designer You've Never Heard Of."

The evening began cinematically with a short film directed by Breton, nominated for two awards from the London Fashion Film Festival and shot in London, where he learned tailoring, introduces a world inspired by Le Jardin des Mille Demains. King Seiko provides the timepiece at the center of the film’s meditation on a simple idea: Every second offers another opportunity to begin again.

The runway show itself paid homage to the fashion designer's creative inspirations as well as having several celebrities and models who have closed past shows including Carmit Bachar, The Pussycat Dolls Jessica Sutta, Netflix Survival of the thickest Peppermint, and actress Mimi Tao. A special music performance by Iconic House Music Legend Crystal Waters closed the show and brought down the house.

With special thanks to Leviev diamonds, House of Monroe millinery, Beauty provided by Odilis Trinidad odilis lashes, Lead Hair Joseph DiMaggio for Pomo and Rica Haircare. The runway show was directed by Andrew Winans and styled by M Frazier.
