Yolm Sponsors Launch of Momentum Partners Exchange in Tampa Bay

AI-native business platform supports inaugural MPX founder event in Florida

TAMPA, FL, UNITED STATES, September 29, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Yolm, an AI-native business platform, served as a Silver Sponsor of the inaugural Momentum Partners Exchange (MPX) event held September 15 at the Centre Club in Tampa.

The sold-out event brought together 74 founders, executives, investors and advisors for a conversation focused on entrepreneurship, business growth and access to experienced business leaders.

The featured guest was entrepreneur, investor and philanthropist Scott Riley, former CEO of Fintech and author of "Zero to 30 Billion!"

Momentum Partners Exchange was created to connect growth-oriented founders with experienced executives, advisors and strategic partners while complementing existing organizations that support entrepreneurs throughout the Tampa Bay business community.

Yolm supported the event as part of its broader interest in helping growing companies improve how they manage business operations, data and artificial intelligence.

"AI can be useful, but its effectiveness depends heavily on the quality and structure of the business information it is working with," said Ralf Haug, CEO and co-founder of Yolm. "For growing companies, having people, reporting, workflows and AI working from consistent, current data can help reduce unnecessary complexity. Organizations such as MPX also give founders an opportunity to learn directly from people who have experience building and scaling businesses."

MPX brings together founders, executives, advisors and strategic partners through events and business relationships designed to encourage knowledge sharing and collaboration within Florida's entrepreneurial community.
