

Savvy Partner Develops Custom Intranet to Put Everyday Employee Resources in One Place

Custom intranet brings Microsoft SSO, employee resources, company events, newsletters and internal information into one centralized platform.

JACKSONVILLE, FL, UNITED STATES, October 5, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Savvy Partner has developed a custom employee intranet designed to give teams easier access to the information and resources they use throughout the workday.

The platform creates one central destination for internal communication and employee resources. The project includes a custom dashboard, Microsoft Single Sign-On, a company calendar and events system, an employee newsletter and direct access to the employee handbook.

Many organizations rely on several different tools to manage internal information. Employees may receive announcements through email, search separate folders for policies and use another system for company events. The custom intranet brings those functions into one organized experience.

Microsoft Single Sign-On simplifies access by allowing employees to use their existing Microsoft credentials. The custom dashboard gives users a clear starting point once they enter the platform. Important resources can be accessed without creating another separate login process or searching through unrelated systems.

The calendar and events section gives employees a dedicated place to view important company dates and internal activities. The employee newsletter provides a consistent home for announcements and company news. The employee handbook keeps policies and workplace information accessible through the same platform.

Custom employee intranet developed by Savvy Partner for Clay County Utility Authority, bringing employee resources, company information and internal tools into one centralized platform.

The project reflects a practical approach to custom development. Technology should support the way a team already works while creating a better structure for the information employees need every day.

Savvy Partner develops websites, digital platforms and custom technology based on the needs of each organization. The agency's development capabilities include website design and development, programming and digital solutions that can connect business information and functionality within a tailored user experience.

The intranet project also gives the organization a foundation that can support additional internal resources as its needs change. New tools and information can be incorporated into the platform without rebuilding the employee experience from the ground up.
