

WFG LAUNCHES THE NEXT EVOLUTION OF DECISIONPOINT® TO MODERNIZE AND ACCELERATE REFINANCE TITLE PRODUCTION

WFG's title automation platform delivers a touchless title commitment for qualifying refinance transactions, for a faster and more accurate closing.

IRVINE, CA, UNITED STATES, October 7, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- WFG National Title Insurance Company, a Williston Financial Group company, today announced the next evolution of its title automation platform, DecisionPoint®. DecisionPoint's AI-enabled production engine now delivers a touchless title commitment for qualifying refinance transactions.

DecisionPoint combines AI with proprietary business rules, trusted title information, and deep title production expertise to automate the traditional refinance title process using the same standards, controls, and underwriting discipline you expect from WFG.

DecisionPoint moves us closer to a more automatic and predictable title experience while keeping the expertise our customers expect at the heart of the process."

Dan Bailey, EVP and Managing Director, WFG Enterprise Solutions

Built on a robust, proprietary business rules engine, trusted title information, and deep title production expertise, DecisionPoint accelerates the traditional title product, providing the highest level of protection to lenders and their clients, with the accuracy, reliability, and underwriting discipline customers expect from WFG.

The DecisionPoint platform automates the traditional refinance title process by applying the same standards, controls, data sources, and underwriting guidance already in place, transforming production into a more automated experience while maintaining the accuracy, reliability, underwriting discipline, and expertise for which WFG is known.

"At WFG, we believe technology should remove friction from the real estate transaction while enhancing, not replacing, the expertise that protects it," said Steve Ozonian, President and Chief Executive Officer of Williston Financial Group. "DecisionPoint reflects that philosophy by helping our customers operate more efficiently, grow their business with greater confidence, and deliver a better experience for lenders, real estate professionals, and the consumers they serve.”

For more than six years, DecisionPoint has helped modernize title production through proven automation. Today’s launch marks its most significant advancement to date, expanding the platform’s capabilities to create a more automated process and improve speed, accuracy, and turnaround time across the refinance order pipeline.

“Our customers don’t just need new technology. They need solutions that help them work more efficiently, reduce complexity, and deliver a better experience,” said Marty Frame, President of MyHome, a Williston Financial Group Company.

“DecisionPoint simplifies title production, improves accuracy, and creates a faster, more predictable path to closing, so our customers can focus on serving their clients and growing their business.”

DecisionPoint is available through WFG Enterprise Solutions and works seamlessly with existing lender and settlement processes, with no additional integration required. Customers working with WFG can immediately benefit from the platform and its scalable foundation for continued innovation and automation in title production.

“For years, lenders have told us that title delays and surprises create uncertainty for their teams and borrowers,” said Dan Bailey, EVP and Managing Director of WFG Enterprise Solutions.

“DecisionPoint directly addresses those pain points by automating the traditional refinance title process, reducing turn times, and identifying potential issues earlier. It moves us closer to a more automatic and predictable title experience while keeping the expertise our customers expect at the heart of the process.”
