

Leak proof underwear company Revol Cares ranks No. 40 on The Globe and Mail 2026 list of Canada's Top Growing Companies

Recognition follows three-year revenue growth of 724 per cent and ongoing retail expansion

VANCOUVER, BC, CANADA, October 8, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The B.C.-based leak proof underwear company Revol Technologies Inc. ("Revol Cares™" or "the company") lands at No. 40 on the 2026 list of Canada's Top Growing Companies, published by The Globe and Mail's Report on Business magazine.

Revol Cares earned its place with three-year revenue growth of 724 per cent between 2022 and 2025. This is the company's first appearance on the list, where it also ranks fourth in the health care and wellness category.

Revol Cares is a Canadian women-led company specializing in leak proof underwear suited for heavy menstrual flow, post-partum, perimenopause, and light bladder incontinence.

"This recognition reflects the growing demand for high-quality, sustainable period underwear," says Sara Jónsdóttir, CEO and co-founder of Revol Cares. "We're breaking barriers and helping people take back control by drawing attention to a notoriously underfunded category: women's health. It's time to shake up the period care aisle."

Over the ranking period, Revol Cares continued expanding its Classics line, grew annual sales nearly eightfold between 2022 and 2025, and more than doubled returning-customer sales in 2025.

The company's growth has been driven by the launch of its Essentials line in 2023, now available in over 4,000 store locations across North America. Revol Cares is seeing 37 per cent YOY growth for current active retailers.

The line's Sleep Short, Bikini Brief, and Thong are PFAS-free and recognized through the Society of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists of Canada's (SOGC) Brand Recognition Program.
