The company's website describes its showroom staff as factory-trained on the brands it sells.

Calls to either store can cover comparing models, confirming dimensions before an order, installation quotes and full kitchen projects with cabinetry from Schrock, Mantra and Forevermark. Free kitchen design consultations are offered across Northeast Georgia, the Atlanta metro and the Augusta-Aiken area. Customers can also request a quote online, and the company states that it typically responds within one business day.

Sub-Zero, Wolf and Cove appliances are on live, working display at both showrooms and can be researched on the website, but they are not available for online checkout. On those product pages, the site directs shoppers to contact the store or visit a showroom, with both phone numbers listed, and the brands are sold by quote.
