New SpouseWorks Scholarship is a program that provides up to $4,000 in financial assistance for Active Duty Spouses

Department of War program for Active Duty Spouses is a free Scholarship to provide a portable career with up to a free $4,000 Scholarship

More than 40,000 students have attended in the last 24 years

BOZEMAN, MT, UNITED STATES, October 19, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The new Department of War SpouseWorks Scholarship, formerly known as MyCAA, helps eligible military spouses gain the education and credentials needed to pursue meaningful employment. The program provides up to $4,000 in financial assistance for approved licenses, certifications, associate degrees, and continuing education courses tied to an eligible career field.

> All Active Duty Spouses should take advantage of the Scholarship," said Richard Rodgers, President & CEO of CED Solutions. "Creating a portable career is essential to dual income when PCS happens."

Up to $4,000 in financial assistance for eligible military spouses.
Helps cover the cost of IT Training Certifications
Supports training needed to qualify for employment in an approved career field.
Provides access to a list of approved career fields, including high-growth and high-demand occupations.
Helps spouses find participating schools and eligible programs like CED Solutions.
Offers career guidance through Military OneSource career coaches.
Helps military spouses build skills and improve their employment prospects.

Whether you are starting a new career, strengthening existing skills, or preparing for employment after a move, SpouseWorks can help reduce the cost of professional training. The program focuses on career paths that support military life and offer opportunities in high-growth, high-demand fields.

"All Active Duty Spouses should take advantage of this Scholarship," said Richard Rodgers, President & CEO of CED Solutions. "Creating a portable career is essential to dual income when PCS happens."

Finding the right path is simple. Explore approved career fields, search participating schools and programs, and review eligibility requirements before applying. These tools help identify training that matches goals, schedule, location, and professional plans.

SpouseWorks also connects military spouses with career guidance and related employment resources. Coaches can help to understand the program, evaluate career options, and take the next step with confidence.

The scholarship is transitioning from the MyCAA name to SpouseWorks, but funding and application status remain unchanged. Check eligibility, explore approved programs, and use the available resources to turn career goals into a practical plan.
