Residents invited to join conversations on health and senior services, mental health, homelessness, community services and public safety

WEST PALM BEACH, FL, UNITED STATES, October 14, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Today, Wednesday, October 14, former City Commissioner and West Palm Beach mayoral candidate Christina Lambert will host the second in a series of resident policy roundtables designed to give West Palm Beach residents a direct voice in shaping priorities and solutions for the city's future.

The second in a series of four resident policy roundtables, tomorrow's event will bring residents, community leaders and local experts together for three conversations focused on: Health & Senior Services; Mental Health, Homelessness & Community Services; and Public Safety.

The discussions will explore some of the most pressing challenges facing West Palm Beach residents, from ensuring seniors and families can access the services they need to addressing homelessness, strengthening community resources and keeping neighborhoods safe. The roundtables are part of Lambert's residents-first approach to developing a comprehensive policy agenda for West Palm Beach, with 14 policy areas covered throughout October.

"This is about making sure residents are heard and that they have a real voice in the future of the city we all share," said Christina Lambert. "Whether we're talking about public safety, caring for our seniors or making sure people have access to the services they need, these are issues that directly affect people's everyday lives. We need to bring residents and experts together, have meaningful conversations about what's working, what needs to improve, and build solutions that reflect the needs of our community."

Tomorrow's roundtable is open to the public, and residents are encouraged to participate in any
